OPERATOR OF THE YEAR

Kelowna has the best pollution control operator in B.C., Washington, Idaho and Oregon, Caesar Turri, water and sewer superintendent, was named Operator of the Year at the recent annual meeting of the Pacific Northwest Pollution Control Association in Spokane. He is shown at the controls of the Raymer Avenue pollution control centre. Mr. Turri was congratulated Monday night by city council.

Average Food Costs Down Last Month Report Shows

OTTAWA (CP) — Food prices continued their fall season decline last month, but higher dentists fees, home insurance, and some higher clothing prices pushed the consumer price index up a notch, Statistics Canada reported today.

The October index stood at 134.9 compared with 134.7 in September, but still a tenth of a point below its August high of 135.

The index, based on 1961 prices equalling 100, meant that it cost $13.49 last month—instead of $13.47 in September—to buy what $10 bought in 1961 for a wide range of consumer goods and services.

Food prices on average declined so that the 1961 bag of $10 worth of groceries cost $13.30 last month, instead of $13.37 as it did in September. That food bill was $13.39 in August.

The over-all increase of about one-tenth of one per cent in consumer prices last month wasn't sufficient to make any appreciable change in the purchasing power of the dollar, the statistics bureau said.

It still reported the consumer

Transport Plane Crashes Into Sea With 51 Aboard

LEGHORN, Italy (AP) — An RAF transport plane crashed into the Ligurian Sea off north-west Italy early today with 46 Italian paratroopers and five British crew members aboard. There apparently were no survivors.

It was Italy's worst peacetime military air disaster.

A search party of 10 helicopters and half a dozen tugboats and navy ships found wreckage of the four-engined DC-130 Hercules but no bodies or survivors.

The wreckage was found off the island of Meloria, a few miles from Leghorn.

The RAF plane was in Italy for an Anglo-Italian military exercise.

The paratroopers were from Italy's Lightning Brigade stationed in Pisa.

SEEK RECORDER
Officials at Leghorn said they were searching for the plane's flight recorder to find what went wrong.

The crash was confirmed by the British embassy in Rome, which said that all the parachutists were Italian and the crew British.

The aircraft was taking part in an air exercise named Coldstream.

The plane had left San Giusto airport at Pisa north of Livorno and was on its way to take part in the combined operation with other aircraft in Sardinia.

Gen. Aurelio Maltose, who was directing the search, declined to speculate whether the plane had exploded or to confirm a report by the Italian news agency that the plane lost one of its engines.

An early-rising hunter said he saw the plane crash into the Ligurian Sea and explode.

The hunter, Alberto Gianvanni, told reporters: "I saw a big plane losing height as it flew out to sea from Pisa. I thought this was unusual so I stopped to watch."

"It was still very dark, but I could see the lights of the aircraft as it came down into the sea about four miles away."

"I did not see it touch the water, but suddenly there was a big explosion and I could see flames rising from the sea."

Small Victory For Ranchers As Commons Delays Study

OTTAWA (CP) — The voice of western ranchers appeared to win at least a small victory in the Commons tax debate today, as the government agreed to postpone study of proposed taxes on basic herds.

Jack Horner (PC-Crowfoot) said the proposed tax levy on basic herds could put the Canadian rancher at a marked disadvantage with his U.S. competitor.

Basic herds—the stock from which spring beef breeders' and dairymen's profits—now are considered much like a capital asset.

That means ranchers do not have to pay a tax on the increased value of the basic herd when it is sold.

The tax bill would do away with the current in the long run. Breeders would have to pay a tax on the profit they make on the herd between valuation day—to dollar had a purchasing power of 74 cents last month, in terms of the 1961 dollar, unchanged from September.

Statistics Canada also reported that while food prices declined and the prices of other commodities rose, there was, in balance, a slight reduction in commodity prices as a whole.

The cost of services, which make up about 30 per cent of the total index, continued to rise.

The statistics bureau said the September-to-October increase in the over-all index this year duplicated the amount of increase in the same month last year. In percentage terms, the index last month was 3.5 per cent higher than a year ago.

The drop in food prices was seasonal, the bureau said. The fall season's harvest of fresh fruits and vegetables usually pushes food prices down at this time of year. Food prices account for more than one-quarter of the total index.

RENTS EDGE UP
Rents edged up only narrowly last month, but the main thrust towards higher housing costs was an advance in household insurance rates in Toronto and Vancouver. Furniture prices were also higher.

The housing index, which includes the cost of household operations, represents about one-third of the total index.

The health and personal care group of consumer prices, making up seven per cent of the total index, reflected higher dentists fees and higher prices for toothpaste, razor blades, cleansing tissues, toilet soap and shaving cream.

The clothing index, covering about 11 per cent of the total index, rose in balance after a number of price declines—for footwear and piece goods—were outweighed by higher prices for men's wear and ladies' fur coats.

Other price changes last month were, for the most part, minimal. No change was recorded in the alcohol and tobacco index.

Two B.C. Pilots Escape Injury

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two airline pilots escaped injury Monday night when a Pacific Western Airlines Convair crashed landed at Vancouver International Airport.

The twin-engine aircraft was on a routine night training flight when its nose wheel failed to lower for landing.

Pilots Gene Gauthier and Gary Swayne circled the airport for two hours to use up fuel as emergency vehicles were positioned around the airport.

Capt. Gauthier then brought the Convair down onto a thick layer of foam on the main east-west runway.

BUN BURNS
CANTON, Ga. (AP) — A prison bus returning to the Cherokee county public works camp burst into flames as it crossed the Etowah River Monday. Reports indicated 19 convicts were burned, 11 critically.

Prisoners said the blaze started when a cigarette was lit near a can of gasoline in the back of the bus.

Ship Sinks In Atlantic

LA ROCHELLE, France (AP) — The French freighter Maori apparently broke up and sank in the Atlantic today, and a French air force pilot reported seeing some of her 39 crew members in the sea. The 9,400-ton freighter sent out a distress call from about 580 miles west of La Rochelle. First reports said an air force search plane sighted the ship, but then it apparently disappeared.

City Council Wants A Special Meeting

Pool Extras Cost $309,000

It would cost about $309,000 to add a diving pool and tank to the two pools now under construction, and roof the three pools, council learned Monday night.

The pools, one for swimming and the other for wading, are being constructed as a $200,000 centennial project, with money being raised locally, and grants from the provincial and federal governments. They and a community centre are being erected in the Spall Road area.

Original plans called for heating and covering the pools, with a diving tank. Because of cost, the roofing and diving tank were removed.

Last month Cliff Charles, swimming pool committee chairman, handed over $50,000. He said the committee will continue to raise money to finish the project, and requested information from the architects on the approximate extra money that would be needed.

For the consortium of architects, Gordon Hartley estimated $287,000 for construction and $22,000 for professional fees. Roof footings are included in the present contract.

Noting the roof itself would only cost $58,000, Ald. Walter Green said the swimming pool committee, which has representatives from various service clubs, had the understanding it would cost about $300,000.

Ald. William Kane pointed out that, if a diving tank were installed, the roof would have to be higher. He suggested estimates should be provided on covering the pools under construction.

The building committee will discuss the estimates with the architects.

Federal Program Queried

Government work-creating programs are not all they are cracked up to be, council was told Monday night.

Last month the federal government announced several programs to create more employment this winter, among them payment of 75 per cent of direct labor costs. City finance director H. K. Hall was asked to see if the city could benefit.

In a list to be studied at a committee meeting next Monday, he suggested landscaping the senior citizens' activity centre to be erected on the Kelowna Yacht Club parking lot, the industrial sewage treatment plant on Brent Creek, widening Pandosy Street, and developing recreational sites.

"The savings have been overemphasized," said city administrator D. B. Herbert. "To get the benefit, we would have to hire new employees. We are laying off workers now."

Under the winter works program, discontinued by the federal government some years ago, savings to the community were almost eaten up by extra costs of doing work in the winter, he continued.

The new program also provides loans to municipalities. Ald. Richard Stewart commented it was a matter of how much the city could borrow.

Jan. 31 is the deadline for applications. The programs are intended to help municipalities and organizations do work.

Today an official of a city organization, who requested anonymity, said the help was useless to any group that did not have $13,000 to invest in capital expenditures.

The federal government will pay $100 a week per man for 130 weeks from the time of project approval until May 31, or $13,000. The official, whose group was planning developing a camp, said capital expenses are at least equal to labor costs.

He also pointed out it was impossible to begin outside work in many points around Kelowna until about March 15. This would mean the 130 week weeks would have to be put into about two and a half months.

Troops Swarm Belfast Area Searching For Hidden Arms

BELFAST (AP) — One thousand British troops swarmed through a Roman Catholic district of Belfast today on a search for hidden arms, arresting 34 suspected terrorists and seizing guns, bombs and ammunition.

Residents of the Turf Lodge district of the Upper Falls Road stood quietly in their doorways and watched as the soldiers made house-to-house searches.

Troops found 13 bombs, rifles, pistols, a shotgun, 1,300 rounds of ammunition, two printing presses and chemicals for making explosives.

Thirty-four men were rounded up for questioning in the search, adding to more than 900 arrested under Northern Ireland's Special Powers Act. The arrests are aimed at the outlawed Irish Republican Army which is fighting to drive out British troops and unite Ulster with the Irish Republic to the south.

Across town in the Lower Falls area, the army said a smaller search operation turned up a cache of 23 bombs and more ammunition.

Talked Into Surrendering
PLEASANT HILL, Calif. (AP) — Fifteen-year-old Debbie Devore helped police and the FBI talk her captor into surrendering early today to climax a manhunt following a double shooting, authorities said. Police Chief Ed S. Kreins said Marvin Joseph Hauber, 29, of Washington state, agreed to release Miss Devore and give up his gun after a 3½-hour "negotiation" at an unoccupied Concord house.

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) — Lawrence Corbett, 35, of Prince George was sentenced today to life in prison after being found guilty of non-capital murder.

Corbett was charged after the shooting death of Clayton MacDonald, 45, in a motel room near here on July 9, 1971.

MacDonald's wife, Doreen, 43, testified in the trial that Corbett had entered their motel room, shot her husband twice and fired three bullets into her.

Stewart, Hodge Criticize Mayor For Recent Remarks

Increasingly frustrated with the lack of city voice in a government for which the city pays nearly half the cost and the fear some regional directors would direct improper efforts against the interests of Kelowna, aldermen moved Monday for a direct confrontation with the Central Okanagan Regional District.

In spite of a heated half hour discussion launched by criticism of recent remarks by Mayor Hilbert Roth, council unanimously agreed to seek a "full board-full council" meeting with regional directors "to iron out this matter."

CRITICIZED
Mayor Roth was criticized for his statements last week at an Okanagan Water Basin Board meeting during which he charged there were "glaring inconsistencies" in regional representation.

The city has one voting representative on the 14-man board but comprises half the population of the district and is assessed financially on the basis of population.

Under the winter works program, discontinued by the federal government some years ago, savings to the community were almost eaten up by extra costs of doing work in the winter, he continued.

The new program also provides loans to municipalities. Ald. Richard Stewart commented it was a matter of how much the city could borrow.

All Aboard Burning Ship Are Rescued

LONDON (AP) — Owners reported today that all 61 persons aboard the 43,330-ton P. and O. cargo ship Heythrop, blazing about 150 miles from the South African port of East London, were rescued.

In a telephone call from the rescue vessel Showa Venture to P. and O. headquarters here, captain Alec Matthews said the 56 crew members and five wives were all safe.

Matthews, 37, said there was an explosion in No. 11 tank of the vessel today.

He was on the bridge with his wife at the time. He said she suffered minor cuts from the blast, and a few other persons suffered minor injuries, but nobody was seriously hurt.

The Heythrop, an oil-bulk ore carrier, has 17 British officers and a crew of Asians.

Showa Venture was reported making for Port Elizabeth to land the party. But Captain Matthews said he planned to try and rebroadcast the ship using his own lifeboat.

Suggestion Of Impropriety

A suggestion of impropriety in the actions of the Central Okanagan regional district, edged the voice of Ald. William Kane Monday as he described the plan of the regional district to study the possibility of services outside the city.

The city representative on the district board, Ald. Kane said the board named a committee to make the study. He said he was not named to the committee although he is a member of the city boundary extension committee which had proposed extension of city boundaries to include part of the area in question.

Part of the area to apparently be studied by the committee is the Heythorpe area including the Orchard Park shopping centre. The city had sought to take in the centre but the move was defeated in a vote by ratepayers Oct. 20.

However, he told council Monday there were no terms of reference for the committee and he described how the appointments had been made by chairman W. C. Bennett who had opposed city boundary extension.

The alderman suggested the committee would be meeting with Marathon Realty Co. Ltd., developers of the shopping centre, to discuss how services could be provided for the centre.

He said this was "improper" for a district to become involved with a private developer, for that district to try and solve the developer's problems—this is improper.

And Ald. Kane said a study "which the city paid in part for, has already been made for the area. There is a definite proposal which has sat there for the past year." Marathon officials earlier told the Courier the district had told the company it was unable to provide services.

Proposed Convention Is Short In Two Ways Reports St. Pierre

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Canada has indicated it may not be able to sign a proposed international convention designed to provide compensation for victims of falling man-made space objects.

Paul St. Pierre, parliamentary secretary to External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp, said Monday the proposed convention, product of eight years of debate, falls short in two ways.

He said Canada believes that the convention is not sufficiently "victim-oriented" in that it does not guarantee full compensation for the victim of a falling object launched by a country.

He also said it is possible that no compensation would be paid at all.

The Vancouver Liberal mentioned what perhaps is the main Canadian concern about the convention is that it could establish a precedent that would affect future international treaties dealing with pollution of the sea and atmosphere.

Kelowna Plant Under Scrutiny

A replica of the Kelowna pollution control centre may be erected in Prince George. Members of the council, staff and press of that city viewed the centre Monday.

Prince George, a city of 35,000 people, has been ordered by the B.C. pollution control board to have primary treatment facilities ready by 1973. At present it dumps pollution into the Fraser River. Drinking water is obtained from the Nechako River, a tributary of the Fraser.

Primary treatment means removing two-thirds of solids from waste. A Vancouver firm of engineers has made a plan for a primary treatment system, but the mayor and two aldermen suggested having a plant which would remove all solids, like Kelowna has.

Before 1912 Kelowna got one of the first sewage treatment plants in Canada. It has been enlarged several times, the last in 1969 costing $1.5 million. There are about 20,000 residents here now. The plant is designed to serve 78,300 people by 1987.

The visitors flew to and from Kelowna by chartered plane. They met with members of Kelowna city council at lunch, and were shown over the centre by city personnel.

SEEN and HEARD

At the request of Ald. Gwen Holland city council has reaffirmed its support for the South Okanagan Health Unit in its request for more staff in spite of objections by Ald. S. A. Hodge. A resolution to this effect was endorsed by the Okanagan Mainline Municipal Association last week and Ald. Hodge said there is no use harping on about these things "just because some public official has some axe to grind."

Ald. William Kane said he would like to hand a "little bouquet" to coach Cliff Kiewer whose immaculate Dons breezed through the Okanagan Mainline Football League season and weekend final without a defeat. He said he understood Mr. Kiewer had not missed a practice in four years and he pointed out the coach was also a member of one of the city's advisory committees. It is people like this who are valuable to this city, said the alderman.

The adult education and recreation Film Festival of the Arts presentation, "All The Women" is scheduled Wednesday at the Kelowna Community Theatre at 7:30 p.m. The Swedish film is described as one of Bergman's best comedies. The same program will include a film short, "Opus; Some Aspects of Art and Culture in Britain".

With Ald. Alan Moss away, and a new radio station having opened, the number of reporters at city council Monday equalled the number of aldermen—five. The Courier sends two reporters, other news media one each.

Jack Cooper, former city businessman, has resigned from the Kelowna Centennial 71 Committee, having moved to Kitimat. Council accepted this with regret, and will thank him for his services. Mrs. Cooper worked for the city recreation department.

New officers for the Kelowna Club will be elected by the 260 members at the annual meeting Nov. 25. They will serve for two years. Retiring president is Jack Gordon, directors Wes Boulding, Ron Evans and Larry Ashley.

A review of the Kelowna Little Theatre play A Thousand Clowns which appeared Monday in the Courier was by entertainment critic Bethel Steele.

Building Most Active

Construction trades, particularly non-union carpenters and carpenters helpers, continue to be "fairly" active says the local branch of Canada Manpower.

The advent of continued activity in construction has kept related trades such as roofers, electricians, plumbers and dry wallers "quite busy" the branch adds.

The situation is reflected in logging and sawmill industries, where there has been a demand for tree fallers and green chain labor. Increased demand has also been shown for draftsmen by engineering firms as civic projects on sewer, water, pollution and land development get underway.

Jobs for unskilled labor have not been plentiful, the Manpower report adds, but states the situation "may change" as new federal special employment programs get underway.

build a rink, which the city would maintain. Club project chairman Brownie Krushen was invited to discuss his project further.

"We are just a new club, and we can't raise a lot of money for a building now," said Mr. Krushen. "We would put in a freezing unit, board fence and, perhaps, changing facilities. Later we might erect a building."

Answering Ald. Richard Stewart, Mr. Krushen said men in the club would build the rink, but it would be professionally designed. Other service clubs have offered to help.

"We have been asked to build in places outside the city, but I think it should be in Kelowna," said Mr. Krushen.

Agreement in principle was moved by aldermen William Kane and Walter Green. Mayor Hilbert Roth will name a committee.

When Mr. Krushen suggested a council member address the club, Mayor Roth said, "I'm sure every council member, particularly those up for reelection, himself, aldermen Kane, Gwen Holland and S. A. Hodge would be glad to come and speak to you."

Need More Details About Parking Lot

Dealings between city council and Kelowna General Hospital board for parking on land between Strathcona and Royal Avenue have been going on for more than two years. And they will have to go on for a little while longer, it was announced Monday.

The board submitted a plan for a parking lot on the land, and requested it be rezoned for use as parking. It now is single and double residential. Plans are to start construction next year, and install a ticket machine.

Council said that, before matter could be presented to a zoning hearing, the board will have to provide city administrator D. B. Herbert with more details.

Earlier the city agreed to do landscaping work on hospital land on Royal Avenue. It is hoped this will be finished this fall.

Ald. Richard Stewart quoted board chairman H. B. Simpson as saying the hospital does not require a seven foot strip at the west end of its Abbott Street parking lot, so could make this available to the city. This will also be discussed.

A request by Erik P. Lund to change 1090 Lawrence Ave., now single and double residential, to community commercial use, was referred to a zoning hearing provided a written agreement is given to various conditions. Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Rocco Perrella are the Gemin plan to build a delicatessen with living quarters above.

Final readings were given to three bylaws. The first is to buy land, 27 acres to add to the industrial park on Highway 97 north from Inland Development Co. Ltd. for $293,659. The second will allow residents to make payments on 1972 taxes, until April 30, before tax bills are issued, and get interest. The third is for advance polling Dec. 9 and 10 for the Dec. 11 municipal elections.

Justina Muller Service Wednesday
Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Menomonee Brethren Church, Kelowna, for Justina Muller, 66, who died Saturday.

A resident of Kelowna for the past 12 years, Mrs. Muller, of 318 Leon Ave., was born in Ukraine and came to Canada in 1907.

UNIT THREATENS LEGAL ACTION

Officials of South Okanagan Health Unit have threatened to prosecute E. A. Haymour of Kelowna if he continues work on Rattlesnake Island near Peachland, without submitting detailed plans, it was announced today.

Mr. Haymour is developing an Arabian-style amusement island. He quoted Fred Alcock, senior health inspector, as saying the sewage field capacity is sufficient.

Mr. Alcock denies this, and said Mr. Haymour was told permission cannot be given until he submits more detailed plans.

Vandals On Rampage

Vandals went on a rampage in Kelowna late Monday with two incidents reported by RCMP.

Three youths were scheduled to appear in Provincial Court this afternoon charged with six counts of theft under $50 after 11 flags were ripped from poles in the downtown area.

RCMP spotted the three early this morning and as a result of investigation, the flags, along with three poles from the City Hall, were recovered.

Besides City Hall, flags were taken from the Yacht Club and the Almetco Co.

RCMP are still investigating a break-in last night at the old Monashee Warehouse, 1264 Ellis Street, in which several mobile carts belonging to the Shrimers were damaged.

Police said seven of the vehicles were extensively damaged and five received minor to heavy damage.

Investigations have so far failed to produce any arrests.

Protesting Road Plans

Kelowna will again protest highways department planning on Highway 97 north after it was disclosed there are no traffic signals planned at Benvenuto and Spall Roads.

Council had agreed to participate in the installation of traffic control at Cooper Road but has expressed fears at that time the department was not planning lights at the other two intersections on the busy stretch of highway.

A letter from the department apparently confirmed these fears and aldermen approved a motion to notify the department "indicating displeasure" with its plans.

Appeal Still Short

Representatives of the Central Okanagan Community Chest and Red Cross United Appeal have expressed concern about $2,560 needed to complete the 1971 drive.

Campaign chairman John Dyck reported $66,500 collected. The drive has been extended in hopes the remaining money will come in. He expressed hopes people who have not already donated will do so, pointing out that, if the objective is not reached, member agencies will have to cut some of their work.

Donations may be left at Dyck's Pharmacy or the chest office, 1564 Pandosy St.

... Mushy

A few showers mixed with snow are predicted Wednesday, with temperatures ranging between 45 and 50. In the city yesterday, a high of 44 was recorded, while the low was 33, with no precipitation. At the airport high and low temperatures were 43 and 32, with a trace of rain. Low tonight should be in the mid-30s.

ABOUT DEMONSTRATIONS

Students Spoken To

Investigations are continuing into participation by students of two secondary schools in demonstrations against the United States nuclear blast last week in the Aleutian Islands.

Wednesday, about 300 students of Kelowna and Dr. Knox Secondary Schools participated in a demonstration at City Park. They jammed city hall and confronted Mayor Hilbert Roth, who assured them city council had protested the blast. A flower pot in the hall was broken.

That afternoon, a group of students went to KLO Secondary School, where they banged on doors and windows asking to be let in.

The school board, in a release signed by secretary-treasurer Fred Macklin, said that, while it recognized the blast had a special significance to some students, further demonstrations might result in them being suspended from school.

M. R. Joyce, Dr. Knox principal, said he told students Wednesday morning the demonstration was not sanctioned by school authorities, so they should remain in school. However, the only way they could have been physically kept in school would have been to post teachers at all doors.

Later, Mr. Joyce interviewed students who took part in the protest, and said he did not agree with their actions, particularly since they had been advised not to leave school.

Meanwhile at KSS, principal Harold Dewar is interviewing participants in the matter.

"Most of the students are genuinely amazed at what happened," he said. "The president of the students' council was going to see the city administrator today to arrange for replacement of the pot."

Mr. Dewar said he is using the incident as a teaching situation. Leaders are being put on probation, meaning they could be expelled later if their conduct is not good.

More Pressure For Extension

The regional districts of central and northern Okanagan should help press for extension to the runway at Kelowna airport, it was suggested Monday.

Last month the Kelowna aviation advisory committee endorsed a brief presented by local ski operators requesting the extension. This would permit larger planes used by skiers to land here. Council, which has endorsed the extension before, was asked to do so again.

The airport serves as far as Vernon, which is in the northern region.

Suggesting council "should aggressively pursue relations with the regional district," Ald.

William Kane, who represents Kelowna on the central district council, said "It is high time people realized there is another level of government. People come to us because they don't have faith in the district."

Last week council voted to spend $6,000 to expand the airport terminal lounge and cover the baggage reception area, and the federal transport department would pay $34,000.

Ald. Kane said he voted against it not because he did not want to see the work done, but because he thought a long-range expansion program should be started.

Ald. Gwen Holland pointed out airport improvements were included in a program of federal government subsidies to promote winter employment. She thought council should not lose sight of the idea, because skiing does not cause pollution, and should be promoted as a winter industry.

"Council has pressured the federal government as much as possible, and will continue to do so," Mayor Hilbert Roth assured her.

Federal transport officials have suggested the extension could not occur for another five years.

Kelowna Chamber of Commerce has also been pressing for the extension.

Council will again request the extension, and request ski operators to present their brief to regional councils.

Year's Lease Added For Assembly Plant

Crown Zellerbach (Canada) Ltd. has been given another year to relocate its downtown assembly plant, but the yearly rental for city land will be raised $600.

Earlier this year, council voted to extend the lease on land used by the company at the east end of the Kelowna Community Theatre to March 1, 1972, at $2,400 a year plus taxes, and recommended to the 1972 council the area be used for parking.

The city bought the land from the S. M. Simpson Co. Ltd. who sold out to Crown Zellerbach. The lot is used to store goods, also for loading. The wood container and pallet assembly plants near it are owned by the company.

Loss of the lot would mean loss of the assembly plant since the company has been unable to find another location for it, said H. W. Decksheimer, company office manager for interior operations. It employs up to 50 men.

The plant could be relocated on other company land by March, 1973, he suggested.

Council agreed to extend the lease to Feb. 28, 1973, at $3,000 plus taxes for the additional year.

Director's Workshop Planned Two Days At Bijou Theatre

Local director Bill Bennett will conduct a workshop for those interested in play direction, November 13 and 14, under the auspices of the Kelowna Little Theatre.

Starting at 1 p.m. both days in the Bijou Theatre on Bertram Street, the workshop will be of a practical, rather than a theoretical nature. Registration for non-members of the Kelowna Little Theatre is $2.

Mr. Bennett, active in the KLT for seven years, last year directed two very successful productions, The Crucible and The Killing of Sister George. The latter play won critical acclaim from adjudicator Tom Kerr.

At the Okanagan Valley Zone Festival the previous year, Mr. Bennett was awarded a certificate of merit for his outstanding production, The Waste Disposal Unit.

This spring, he will direct what has been called an "unusual" play for the KLT.

Those wishing further information on this weekend's director's workshop should contact Mrs. M. Wort at 763-2729.

Green Fears Job Scheme

A Kelowna alderman has expressed concern at a proposed job evaluation scheme for municipal employees.

Ald. Walter Green, after asking if the report prepared professionally for the Okanagan Mainline Municipal Labor Association was secret, said he had read it and the "discontent" it will cause could be "astronomical."

He said it appears as though some workers would be asked to take "an adjustment" downward in their rates of pay.

However, city administrator D. B. Herbert said such a suggestion indicates a "complete misunderstanding" and any suggested rates would be based on present pay scales.

The alderman said he would like to discuss the matter further with council.

Recommend Designation

The Regional District of Central Okanagan wants three areas in Rutland designated as development areas to control growth there.

Two readings were given to a bylaw to designate property west of the weigh scales on Highway 97, north of Highway 33 and south of Leathead Road near the sawmill, and north of Rutland Secondary School.

Suggestions were made that other areas be designated, but Mel Marshall, director for that area, said his area advisory committee recommended designating only the three areas now.

Regional district chairman W. C. Bennett said gradual development should be encouraged.

First reading was given to a bylaw designating open spaces in multi-family zones.

Both matters will be referred to the B.C. municipal affairs department.

TRAFFICKING DISMISSED
Earl Robert Dadds of Westbank was found guilty by Judge A. D. C. Washington of possessing marijuana. He was placed on suspended sentence and probation for 22 months. A charge involving trafficking in the drug was dismissed.

Short Takes

The chain that graces the neck of Mayor Harold Thwaite of Peachland is annoying residents of the community.

Anxious to preserve his civic appearance, Mayor Thwaite ordered the neckwear this year, with the hope it would be presented by Queen Elizabeth during her visit here. Royal tour officials denied permission for her to make the presentation, but the mayor wore it when he was presented to her, Prince Philip and Princess Anne in City Park.

Peachland council were against the chain until the mayor said he would raise the money himself, then made a motion allowing him to get it. His one-man campaign raised about one-third of the $700 cost, and he asked council to pay the balance.

Aldermen have refused to pay, and referred to their original understanding. Mayor Thwaite says no person should be expected to pay for municipal property.

It may be argued that $457 would not provide much in the way of roads, sewers or other things needed in the community. But the point is—why waste public money?

All this argument shows the need for explicit writing of motions by council and other groups. The words "payment to be arranged by the mayor" should have been added.

Peachland voters are waiting to see what effect the chain will have on the December election. The mayor is contemplating whether to seek a third term as municipal head, or step down to an aldermanic position.

Meanwhile, the company that made the chain is waiting for its $457.

Bernard Avenue and Ellis Street may become "monstrosity corner" if the federal government does not soon do something about the old post office.

Since the new federal building opened in May on Queensway Avenue, the old building has been empty. The city wanted to purchase it, but the federal public works department wants to retain ownership and lease it to the city. Although there are some departments that could use more space, council decided this is too valuable property for municipal purposes.

What the federal government plans to do with the property is not clear. Since remodelling would be quite expensive, they may wish to demolish it and sell the land or build another building. Or it could be used to store equipment belonging to governments or companies.

If something is not done soon, it will degenerate because of age and vandalism. But as long as it stands, the city will receive grants in place of taxes.

Something must be done about the petty thievery in the Memorial Arena during public skating. It started with theft of money from the coats of youngsters then to clothing and recently a mother complained that her youngster's new expensive cowboy boots were taken. We feel the youngster shouldn't have worn such good boots to the arena as there is no way they can be checked or put in a safe place. Why can't the city put an auxiliary policeman on duty during skating periods policing the arena continually? What about a service club setting up a small check room charging a small fee for checking? Certainly the parents would go for this and the service club could make a few dollars for their charitable projects. One mother said she better have her boy skating with his shoes hanging around his neck.

New Political Party

(Victoria Times)

The announced intention of Dr. Scott Wallace to form a new political party, probably to be called the New Conservatives, will evoke a familiar response from many political cynics—the comment, "here we go again." New political parties, or new names for old parties, have seldom created the magic expected of them. The most notable exception in British Columbia, of course, is the party created by Mr. Bennett when he and the late Mrs. Tillie Rolston defected from the Conservatives and drew with them basically Conservative followers.

The switch marked the end of the Conservatives as a force in the provincial legislature and the party was left without representation when Nanaimo's Dr. Larry Giovando, the last sitting Conservative, retired from politics in 1956. Since then provincial Conservative figures, notably E. Davie Fulton, have picked up the party standard only to walk, with their followers, deeper into the provincial graveyard.

Now Dr. Wallace prepares to invite "true" Conservatives, meaning those who wish to conserve what is good and to avoid squandering provincial resources, to form an army behind him in support of the concepts he believes in. That effort may be aided by a growing public disenchantment with the aging W. A. C. Bennett party.

Dr. Wallace can scarcely hope to attract support from the political left. At best he can provide an alternative choice for small-conservatives. But he has much more against him than merely mathematical odds.

Offset Noise Pollution

(Galt Reporter)

One of the most baffling things in today's noise-polluted world is why young people, and some not so young, want their music sung or played at a deafening volume.

In the home there is likely to be a senior who insists on fewer decibels, but in public places the rule appears to be the louder the better. So, mostly untalented groups of performers with outlandish, cloyant names and aided by the curse of electronic amplification, blow, bawl, strum and thump their way through trash, to be rewarded by the delicious applause of a partly-stunned audience. There is a disturbing mindlessness about all this, as there is about some of the things a sizable number of the younger generation do.

For their elders who have known quiet and like it, there is escape from the growing din around them from traffic, the neighbor's loud TV or the power shoveler down the street. An American record company is offering an LP entitled "Environments" as a means of neutralizing irritating noises. One side consists solely of the sounds of ocean surf. The other side carries the chirping of birds. Shut the windows, turn on the hi-fi and listen to the soothing sounds.

This is an idea worth expanding. What about a disc or tape of the sigh of the wind in pines, the patter of light rain on a cabin roof in the woods, the gurgle of a canoe paddle on a lake, the music of a pebbled brook or the drone of the bumblebee on his rounds of the flowers? But the rising generation, when at 40 it is probably half deaf, will have to have its escape music at high volume if it is ever to hear it.

IT HAPPENED IN CANADA

CANADA'S STORY

Wild Pigeon Aided Carleton To Flee

By BOB BOWMAN

Britain was in desperate straits in the summer of 1940. France had fallen and the German military forces, the strongest the world had ever known, were preparing to strike across the English Channel by air and sea.

Britain was practically defenceless, having lost men and supplies during the fighting in France and the evacuation from Dunkirk. Her only allies were Canada and the other members of the Commonwealth. Yet, the British people rallied in what Sir Winston Churchill described as "their finest hour" and the Germans were defeated.

Canada faced a similar situation on Nov. 9, 1975, during the opening year of the American revolutionary war. An American army had swept across the border from Lake Champlain, captured the forts south of the St. Lawrence, and was ready to cross the river to Montreal. There was no way to check its advance.

Another American army, led by Benedict Arnold, had marched through the state of Maine, crossed the St. Lawrence in small boats, and was ready to attack Quebec City.

Governor Sir Guy Carleton had been trying to block the American advance towards Montreal, but had to dash for Quebec when the position became hopeless. U.S. troops were already stationed along the shore of the river east of Montreal and it was necessary for Carleton to get through their lines.

He engaged a daring river pilot known as the "Wild Pigeon" to help him. Carleton was disguised as a habitant, and wore a blanket coat, sash, red bonnet, and moccasins. His trip down the river was in an open boat, mostly at night, and was almost under the muzzles of American guns a number of times. The "Wild Pigeon" made his men paddle the boat with their hands when they passed between Ile St. Ignace and Ile du Pas so they would not make any noise.

Carleton arrived at Quebec City Nov. 19 and found the city besieged by Arnold's army. Yet he managed to get through safely and defended the city successfully until spring when the arrival of Royal Navy units forced the Americans to withdraw to the U.S.A.

Other Nov. 9 events:

1613—Military force from Virginia destroyed Port Royal and settlements along St. Croix River.

1789—United Empire Loyalists received grants of land in British North America.

1860—John A. Macdonald introduced new type of political campaign at Brantford, Ont.

1864—First shipment of lumber from British Columbia to Australia.

1872—Intercolonial Railway was authorized between Montreal and Halifax.

1882—First locomotive "Lady Dalton" arrived at North Bay, Ont.

1928—Privy Council confirmed Supreme Court decision that gold and silver found in Hudson's Bay Co. territory belonged to federal government.

1942—Canada severed relations with Vichy government of France.

1943—Canada signed UNRRA agreement.

1961—Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced creation of Canadian Museum of History.

Bras D'Or Can't Sail In North And Now Will Have 5-Year Rest

HALIFAX (CP) — "Now that you've got a hydrofoil," a United States Navy official once asked the skipper of the Canadian navy's prototype Bras D'Or, "what do you do with it?"

At the time, Cmdr. Gordon Edwards replied that "she could do many kinds of work—anti-submarine warfare, search and rescue, pollution control—you name it."

But Ottawa has decided to leave Bras D'Or—the world's fastest warship—high and dry, mothballed at the naval dockyard here.

Because there are more important defence needs and no prospects for a foreign sale, Defence Minister Donald Macdonald has told the Commons the hydrofoil would be laid up for five years.

Bras D'Or, the product of 13 years' work and $22.2 million dollars of public funds, pulls her hull out of the water with wing-like extensions to attain speeds yet impossible for conventional vessels.

SET RECORD

She set a world speed record for warships, a blistering 72.3 miles an hour at the mouth of Halifax harbor in 1969, and added to her laurels in a high-speed endurance run to Bermuda and Norfolk, Va., earlier this year.

When she returned from the southern cruise where she put on displays of her capabilities for U.S. naval officials, she was put up on a barge for a major overhaul. It's on that barge she'll probably sit for the next five years.

Captain Jim Knox of Ottawa, the Bras D'Or project manager, said the 200-ton aluminium craft will probably have a boathouse built around her as she sits on the barge.

Rear-Admiral Robert W. Timbrell, commander, Maritime Command, showed little sympathy for Bras D'Or when the announcement came. He said he would rather have money spent elsewhere than have a ship in his fleet that could not operate in the Canadian North.

Bras D'Or's lack of capability in Arctic waters is probably the main reason for the defence department decision, but continuing costs also were a factor.

SET PRIORITIES

The white paper on defence policy released last summer gave top priority to protection of sovereignty and surveillance of Canadian territory and coastlines, with emphasis on northern waters.

Admiral Timbrell said: "Our shopping list is always larger than available cash. Priorities have to be set."

He reiterated Mr. Macdonald's stand that replacement or major overhaul of the aging Argus long-range patrol aircraft was badly needed. He also emphasized the replacement of some outdated surface ships with vessels capable of penetrating ice.

"It won't hurt Maritime Command. It was only a research vessel."

Captain Knox said it is possible, but unlikely, that the concept of the hydrofoil could be outdated while the vessel is idle.

"It has taken us a long time to get to this stage and I don't see much on the horizon that's likely to overtake us in five years," he said.

COST WOULD MOUNT

The next stage in development work would have cost $4.5 million over three years.

Captain Knox estimated that $1 million would be spent to maintain the hydrofoil during the five-year layup. He said that is the minimum amount defence department officials felt was reasonable to be able to reactivate the Bras D'Or at any time in accordance with Mr. Macdonald's statement.

Both Captain Knox and Admiral Timbrell expressed pleasure that research would continue in the hydrofoil field.

Neither would elaborate on how the research would be done, but Defence Research Establishment Atlantic in neighboring Dartmouth is engaged in a hydrodynamics research program making use of a high-speed hydrofoil unit for testing.

The Bras D'Or complement of 25 men and five officers probably will be absorbed into the Canadian forces, Admiral Timbrell said, with some used for maintenance of the hydrofoil.

Planning for a hydrofoil vessel began in 1958, but it was not until 1963 that a contract was awarded to de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd. for construction at an estimated $20 million.

A fire at the Sorel, Que., shipyard where Bras D'Or was being built further added to costs and delays in the program, and it was not until 1969 that she started her high-speed runs.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PATRON UNHAPPY

Sir: I like to patronize local talent and saw the performance of 'A Thousand Clowns'.

I was very disappointed. I am sure a lot of work went into it, the actors performed their parts well, especially the little boy, but I am sure it wasn't necessary to use all that profane language. It was shocking, especially in a play from which one is to derive pleasure. It wasn't a suitable play for children.

We were close to the stage and still couldn't hear what was being said most of the time.

So please put on pleasant performances Kelowna Little Theatre and I will patronize you again.

Sincerely,
MRS. HELEN McHARG

PEN MIGHTIER

Sir: Congratulations to all those level-headed students who did not protest! Thanks Mr. Editor for giving us an insight into this kind of thinking. It is so easy in these times to allow mob thinking to rule. Well informed history students know that the Canadian-American relationship (even with all its faults) is still the best that Canada has ever had or will have.

Protest if you may! The best weapon of protest is still the written word. The pen is mightier than the sword!

Yours truly,
VIOLET R. SHARP

RIOT EXPECTED

Sir: We should not be surprised that some of our school children promoted a riot at the city hall last week. We might expect it. It belongs to the "sick society" which Canadians have often attributed to our neighbor to the south. It belongs to the teacher who fails to provoke reason, so advocates revolt. It belongs to the agitator who stirs up a crowd to frenzy and then dispassionately leaves the scene. It belongs to the sans-culottes of the Great New Canadian Revolution. It is a part of that "Canadian Culture" which we Canadians have dreamed of for the past few years, but never quite attained.

Through the medium of our "culture cabinet," which is given a prominent place in most Canadian living rooms, Canadians are able to watch the progress of their cultural advance. Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver and other large Canadian cities offer us pictorial viewings of their own individual contributions to Canadian culture.

With great pride, we see the great Canadian culture develop to the theme, "From each according to his abilities, to him according to his needs." Maimed and murdered policemen and citizens, overturned automobiles, broken store windows, burning buildings and every form of savagery devised by mobsters who have taken leave of their senses.

"Police brutality!" is screamed at those who would enforce law and order, for Canadian culture must not be impeded. "Pigs!" is the name yelled at officers of the law by those who wallow in the filth of their own manufacture.

And what is the road in to all this? It is suppression in its worst form. Contrary to what some may suppose, Communism is not the ideology for the poor, the factory worker, the weak and underprivileged; its theories are embraced by the intellectuals, the wealthy and the social elite. A cause is used—and often created—to invoke harsh, restrictive methods, such as the War Measures Act, which can then be imposed with the sanction of the people. Those who were used as tools, and stepping-stones to power, now find themselves shackled by chains much stronger and more uncomfortable than the ones they were told to shed; their one-time "friends" have become their obdurate masters.

We have been relatively free from scenes of violence in Kelowna. It is to be hoped that some strong measures will be taken to curb any recurrence of such foolishness. Stiff fines handed out to parents of such miscreants would most certainly bring this kind of hooliganism to an end.

Yours truly,
LEONARD R. SAUNDERS

CAPITAL COMMENT

Constitutional Report Due

By FARMER TISSINGTON

OTTAWA — A few weeks from now the report of the Joint Senate-Commons committee on Canada's constitution is expected to be made public. This wide-ranging document, which will probably run to more than 200 pages, is the fruit of the labor of the group of Senators and Members of Parliament who have been at work since February 1970.

The committee now is holding its final in-camera meetings, trying to reach unanimity on dozens of important issues. Hopefully, the report will be ready prior to Christmas.

The committee held 145 meetings in all the major cities of Canada and in the Yukon and the North West Territories. A staggering total of 1,486 witnesses was heard and 8,000 printed pages of testimony were sifted.

The constitution is regarded by many as a dry-as-dust subject, fit only for discussion at those often tedious federal-provincial conferences. But the sort of things that will be included in the committee's report strike close to the lives of all Canadians.

The division of powers vis-a-vis Ottawa and the provinces, taxing and spending powers allocated to each level of government, the controversy over offshore mineral rights, fundamental human rights and freedoms, language rights, pollution, foreign ownership, international relations, and appointments to the Supreme Court and the Senate, are some of the subjects to be discussed in the report.

BRING IT HOME

There will likely be unanimous agreement that Canada's constitution, the British North America Act, should be repatriated. That is, Canada should have the power to make amendments to its own constitution without reference to the parliament of Westminster.

One of the most difficult problems has been working out an amending formula, but here again, the committee is believed to have arrived at an agreement. This will probably result in a decision to require the consent of a majority of the provinces and of a majority of the population. At the moment, Ontario and Quebec are in this position and British Columbia may soon reach it.

In addition, the formula would require consent of at least two of the four western provinces which total at least 50 per cent of the population and any two of the Atlantic provinces.

SENATE APPOINTMENTS

One of the main controversies is expected to hinge around the section involving fundamental human rights and freedoms, including language rights. Some are in favor of incorporating the Canadian Bill of Rights in the constitution, while others are opposed. Still others favor inclusion of a Bill of Rights, but not the bill adopted during the Diefenbaker era.

A great deal has been heard about methods of appointment, or even election, to the Senate. The committee is expected to recommend that some members of the Senate be appointed by provincial governments, with the approval of the federal government. Suggestions that there should be a fixed term for parliament and that general elections be held on a specific date after an established length of office are not likely to win approval.

One of the contentious areas has to do with how far provinces should be allowed to go in dealing on an independent basis with other nations. This has been a particularly critical issue as far as Quebec is concerned in recent years. The committee is expected to recommend some latitude in this field, while making it clear the central government has the final say in any conflict of interest between Ottawa and a provincial capital.

KEEP RULE

The present rule, which provides that no province can have fewer members of Parliament than it has Senators, will probably be retained. Only one province, Prince Edward Island, would lose MPs if the rule was dropped or altered. P.E.I. has four Senators and hence four members of Parliament, although its population, under the Commons' Redistribution Act, does not warrant that many.

One of the P.E.I. MPs, Melvin McQuaid, has been a member of the constitution committee since its inception. He is concerned that the work of the committee may be pigeon-holed, as so often happens to committee reports here.

"The final decision on constitutional matters is, of course, up to the federal government and the 10 provinces," Mr. McQuaid points out. "But it would be a tragic waste of time and probably close to a million dollars of cost, if the committee's recommendations are not given the most careful consideration by Ottawa and the provinces."

He feels it is unfortunate that the last federal-provincial conference in Victoria did not include some representation from the Senate-Commons committee. Attempts were made to have the entire committee, the steering committee, or only the joint chairmen of the committee sit in as observers, but without success.

This attitude does not give the P.E.I. MP too much hope that the committee's report will receive that attention he feels it will deserve.

Piedmont Park Not So Beautiful And Families Don't Visit It Now

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Only a year ago grassy, tree-shaded Piedmont Park was a favorite spot for family outings on nice days. But families rarely go there anymore. Now it's a theatre of violence and police use a helicopter to keep it under surveillance.

The families have been replaced by heroin pushers, narcotics addicts and thieves who prey on the several hundred hippies who gather there each day.

Extra police protection was ordered recently when the growing violence reached a climax with the shooting of a young policeman as he sought to arrest a 16-year-old girl on a drug charge.

The officer was seriously wounded.

Only a day earlier, a young man suffered severe hand injuries when a borrowed lighter, body-trapped with a potentially deadly mixture of nitroglycerin and sawdust, exploded in his hands.

Robbery now is common in the park, and several youths have been shot. Police say Piedmont Park's trouble came with the arrival of the members of hard narcotics, principally heroin. Most members of the hippie community find one agreement with the police on that point.

"There are some bad things here, some bad people," said 22-year-old Steve Mitchell, whose long brown hair is tied into a round ponytail around his bearded face. "We have a few individuals here selling narcotics. I hate to see these guys come down here."

Beta Sigma Phi welcomed eight new pledges in a ritual ceremony at the Capri. The new pledges received were: Brenda Campbell, Mrs. G. B. Ackerman, Mrs. J. H. Leckey, Donna Lindsay, Mrs. Arlene Baker, Elizabeth Fusick, Mrs. Dean Martell and Mrs. J. Q. De Geuchy.

The ritual was officiated by Mrs. Michael West, president of the Alpha Epsilon Chapter and assisted by Mrs. Raymond Trudeau, vice-president of Alpha Epsilon; Mrs. Andrew Nemeth, vice-president of Gamma Mu; Mrs. Jerome Redman, president of Gamma Mu and Mrs. Leon French, president of XI Alpha Omega.

Mrs. David Chapman was also installed as the social sponsor of Alpha Epsilon Chapter. This installing ritual was conducted by Mrs. West assisted by Mrs. Michael Roydell.

The theme of the evening was in accordance with the 40th anniversary of Beta Sigma Phi and decorations followed the traditional black and gold colors.

Before dinner was served, Mrs. Jerome Redman gave the toast to the Queen and Mrs. Leon French the grace. The head table was introduced by Mrs. George Chantler, vice-president of XI Alpha Omega Chapter.

Mrs. Raymond Trudeau proposed the toast to the pledges and welcomed them to Beta Sigma Phi with a hope that they would have many years of enjoyment and satisfaction in sorority. Mrs. Dean Martell, a

NEW COURSE
SARNIA, Ont. (CP) — A new world religions course to be offered in area schools next year as an option for Grades 11 and 12 will cover all the major religions of the world, with little emphasis on one over the other. Students will study the origins of each religion, its methods of extending itself to other lands and its effects on modern culture.

OLD FAVORITES
SHEFFIELD, England (CP) — Enid Blyton is still top of the children's favorite books chart after 30 years of popularity, a survey by Yorkshire students shows. More than 9,000 children were questioned to demonstrate that few recent books written for the young have gained such a wide following as the classic favorites. Runners-up were Charles Dickens, Agatha Christie and Robert Louis Stevenson.

Interior Designers Concentrate On Customers' Specific Needs

WINNIPEG (CP) — A representative of the Interior Designers' Institute of Manitoba says that interior designers, often confused with interior decorators, are given less credit than they deserve.

Donna Mae Yeo, a public relations representative, said in an interview here that "anyone can call himself an interior decorator." She said registered members of the institute have recognized degrees in interior design and associate members have years of working experience in the field.

Recent graduates of interior design are not accepted as associate members until they have completed two years of working experience. Last year, the Manitoba institute had 40 registered members, 18 associate members and eight non-resident associates.

"I know of no other profession which the average person believes he can practise with no training or experience. You seek out an interior designer for help in decorating just as you would go to a doctor for medical help."

Mrs. Yeo said the general public is geared to what they see in the stores—often a limited selection of what is available. Interior designers were aware of new products not always known to consumers.

She said interior designers concentrate more on their customers' backgrounds and financial ability to create a suitable home environment instead of

Adoption Is 'Sure' Plan

MONTREAL (CP) — Already the parents of three boys, Hilda and Mervyn Ungar wanted a girl—whatever her race or color—to complete their family.

"We had three boys and we wanted a little girl," Mrs. Ungar said. "We went to the Baron de Hirsch Institute where we were told there was a shortage of Jewish babies but that we might be able to have one of mixed race."

"We had already had family conferences about getting a baby. . . . We all agreed that the important thing was to get a baby. We had no real preferences about race or color, just about sex. We wanted a girl."

Two months later, the Ungars were notified that there was a baby girl available for adoption in the Northwest Territories. She was the child of a teen-aged Indian girl. They adopted a three-month-old Rachelle Morana.

"We saw her picture and right away we knew she was for us," Mrs. Ungar said. "We've had her now for several weeks. She's a good baby, smiles easily and laughs a lot, so much that we're inclined to spoil her."

"The boys love helping to take care of her and my routine hasn't changed radically. We're home folks and staying in again with a little baby isn't too hard."

"While we might have had another child of our own, we had no way of being sure it would be a girl. This way our family is complete. Our little girl is as much part of it as anyone in it."

STRANGE SENSATION
For Eluma and Melvyn Appel, their whole world turned upside down when the institute told them their baby was to arrive in Toronto from Manitoba.

"We rushed about getting ready and left early the next morning," Mrs. Appel said. "It was the strangest sensation to be standing at an airport waiting for a baby we never had seen and being brought by a man we had not seen."

"We didn't have any idea what she would look like or what schedule she would be on but we decided to play it by ear. Everything worked out fine. We call her Stacey Ilene. She's three-months old, of an Indian mother and white father. She's as good as gold."

Like the Ungars, it took about two months before they were notified a baby girl had been found. They have a son of their own, six-year-old Andrew.

"The idea of a transracial adoption didn't bother us," Mrs. Appel said. "My brother and his wife adopted a little Vietnamese baby so we were familiar with the idea. I don't feel there was anything particularly noble about what we did. We wanted a baby girl. We got an adorable one and that's the important thing."

Third Generation Married In St. Michael's Church

When Beverley Anne Crookes and Gordon Stephen Ivans exchanged vows in St. Michael and All Angels' Anglican Church they were married in the same church as their parents and grandparents. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Crookes of Kelowna and the groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Ivans, also of Kelowna. Canon R. W. S. Brown conducted the candlelit ceremony in a setting of mauve and purple flowers.

Marlene Trembley of Kelowna sang Sunrise, Sunset during the Oct. 30 ceremony and her accompanist was Mrs. F. Verkerk. The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of Chantilly lace, featuring long sleeves. Deep purple ribbons fell from the empire waistline and a lace hood added a charming effect. She carried a bouquet of white daisies tipped with deep purple, with an orchid in the centre. She also wore her grandmother's engagement ring.

PURPLE RIBBONS
Maid of honor, Jane Owchar of Kelowna and bridesmaids, Janice Crookes of Regina, Sask., and Mrs. Grace Hartfield of Rutland wore long A-line dresses. The maid of honor wore a deep purple dress with mauve ribbon around the empire waist falling down the full length of the gown. The bridesmaids were clad in mauve gowns with deep purple accenting their gowns. They also wore matching chokers and purple flowers were scattered in their curls.

Serving as best man was the groom's twin brother, Ronald of Rutland and ushers were Brian Crookes of Kelowna and Harold Hartfield of Rutland.

Receiving the guests at the reception which followed at the Kelowna Golf and Country Club, the bride's mother wore a long skirt of alencon lace over black nylon net topped with white silk long sleeved blouse. A black velvet waistband was accented with a rhinestone buckle. A corsage of purple tones added color to her ensemble.

The groom's mother chose a long white velvet dress overlaid with a gold pattern. A corsage of white daisies complemented her long sleeved gown.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Dr. Brian Holmes and Ronald Ivans proposed the toast to the bridesmaids. Kevin Crookes was in charge of the bride's book.

MEDICAL WARNING
NEEDINGHAM, England (CP) — A warning sign outside a research laboratory in this north of England community read: "Keep out! Trespassers will be experimented upon."

MR. AND MRS. GORDON IVANS

The club dining room was prettily decorated with flowers, which had been arranged by Mrs. Ian Greenwood and Mrs. Charles Pettman, who also decorated the church. A five-tiered wedding cake was decorated with purple grapes and bells and two triple candelabra with mauve tapers added a lovely glow to the setting.

The bride's going away outfit was a maroon knitted pant suit with a mid length sweater overtop. Black accessories and a white corsage added contrast.

After a honeymoon at Hawaii the couple will make their home at RR 2, McKenzie Road, Kelowna.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Strang, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rea, Shelagh Rea, Jill Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. R. Gavin Jr., Mr. and Mrs. R. Gavin Sr., Susan Aynsley, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. E. Butler of Penticton; D. Sommers and Fred Gilbertson, both of Revelstoke and Mr. and Mrs. R. Gilbert and John Wienheimer and Mr. and Mrs. R. Shillam, all of Vernon.

First Females Join Duncan Jaycees

DUNCAN, B.C. (CP) — When the Junior Chamber of Commerce amended its national constitution in July to permit women membership, it was just a token move, says Regional Director Keith Jones.

Recently it became more than that—three women from this Vancouver Island community became the first female members of any Jaycee unit in North America.

"I thought I'd use the idea of women joining as a club over the head of back-sliding male members," said local President Wayne Buck.

"I thought they'd be so irritated by the idea that they'd come out in full force. But they didn't bite."

Instead, the service club got three new members, including Mr. Buck's wife, Ellen. The others are Carol Qualie, wife of Duncan Mayor Jim Qualie, and Lorraine Hedstrom, wife of local Jaycee Secretary Peter Hedstrom.

Problems In Reserves Caused By Indian Affairs Bureaucracy

OTTAWA (CP) — Marie Marule says she's proud of her Indian background and its culture and isn't afraid to say what she thinks.

The new secretary-treasurer of the National Indian Brotherhood said she feels that Canadian Indians should be integrated with the rest of the population but they should never be assimilated.

She said recent demonstrations at Saddle Lake near St. Paul, Alta., by irate parents concerned over school conditions, had been brewing for a long time.

"We rejected the department of Indian affairs white paper but liked 16 recommendations of policy on education made in June. We thought Indian Affairs Minister Chretien approved but he rejected most of them on Sept. 17 in a speech."

Born Marie Smallface on the Cardston, Alta., Blood reservation, she was one of seven children who were encouraged to attend school.

Marie went on to the University of Alberta from 1962 to 1966 and needs only two courses to get her BA in sociology and anthropology.

She spent four years in Zambia with Canadian University Service Overseas and married an African freedom fighter, now at the University of Ottawa.

She returned to Canada because she missed the reserve. Later she became executive assistant to George Manuel, president of NIB.

Marie finds her job "challenging and exciting."

She is concerned with conferences, meetings, office procedure, filing, budgets, staffing "and, of course, lobbying," she said with a grin.

She said her main quarrel with the department of Indian affairs is bureaucracy and too-rigid personnel.

ANN LANDERS

Privacy Is Nil In Army Draftee Has Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I am praying that you will fix up my letter so it will be fit to print. I just don't know how to put it in better language and there is nobody I can talk to. I am a boy 19 who is getting ready to go into the service. My problem is that I cannot urinate in a public place if there is anyone around. This might not sound serious but it is. All the way through school I managed by waiting till I was alone in the boys' room. In the army there is no such thing as being alone.

Sometimes waiting for privacy can be uncomfortable and painful. What can I do? Is there a cure for my problem? Please help me. You are my only hope. —19 And Holding

Dear 19: Yours is a psychological problem rooted in early childhood. Your mother probably made you feel ashamed of any activity related to the genitals and now you are tragically inhibited. When you take your physical tell the doctor about the problem. You may be ineligible. If you are inducted see the army psychiatrist promptly. I'm betting you will conquer the hang-up before you leave the service.

Dear Ann Landers: In a recent column you printed assorted facts to imply that women are superior to men. Like most women you present only those facts which support your position and conveniently ignore the rest.

You state that women live longer than men. True. But are you aware that the American male ranks 37th compared with the males of other nations? This would tend to suggest that there are socio-cultural factors involved in this comparison. You also state that more men die from heart disease than women. True. But more women die from cerebral strokes. And we know that even though more men die from lung cancer this disease has increased among women nearly 50 per cent in the last 20 years.

Dr. Estelle Ramey states that more men commit suicide than women. True. But she neglects to mention that more women ATTEMPT suicide. And according to the present National Health Survey's report, Selected Symptoms of Psychological Distress, women had significantly higher rates than men for every symptom. The symptoms investigated were insomnia, nightmares, perspiring hands, headaches, dizziness, heart palpitations, and feelings of impending nervous breakdown. I am sure you won't print this letter but I feel better for having written it. —Monroe, La.

Dear Monroe: Thanks for the facts. And now may I suggest the reason so many women suffer from insomnia, nightmares, perspiring hands, headaches, dizziness, heart palpitations, and feelings of impending nervous breakdown is MEN. And I'm not kidding.

Wrong Principles Defended By IOC

"The trouble with international skiing is that Avery Brundage (of the International Olympic Committee) doesn't have a very realistic point of view," Nancy Greene Raine said Friday.

Nancy, internationally known for her skiing heroics for Canada in world competitions, was in Kelowna on Friday to help promote skiing during the Capri's Winter Festival. Her visit was sponsored by the Bank of Montreal, which underwrites the World Cup ski competitions, the only Cup competition in Canada.

"I think the IOC is trying to defend the wrong principles," Nancy said during a press conference. "Instead of going overboard on the professionalism of amateur skiers, they should try to defend the principles of honesty, good sportsmanship and fair competition."

Brundage, the head of the IOC, has taken a firm stand on the question of manufacturers advertising their products on amateur skiers' equipment. He has suspended a number of amateur skiers on this point

Nats Break String Of Losses At Six

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Nats, blanked New Westminster Bruins 4-0 before 780 fans in Western Canada Hockey League play here Monday.

The win broke a six-game losing streak for the Nats.

In the first period, New Westminster outshot Vancouver 12-7, but came out trailing 1-0 as a result of excellent netminding by Jack Cummings in the Vancouver net.

Cummings made 36 saves during the night, 17 in the third period to record his first shut-out of the season.

Bill Ennos scored twice for the Nats, while Tom Gawryletz and Dave Andruchiw had singles.

Ennos got the Nats' first goal at 15:38 when he banged a rebound under Bruins' goalie Brian Newbert.

South Rutland Wins Laurels

South Rutland Elementary School scored in the first half and held on to win the school district soccer title with a 1-0 victory over Coldstream Elementary School Saturday.

South Rutland got a goal from Kevin Weninger at the 15th minute of the first half and played scoreless ball the rest of the way on the muddy field, covered by a thin layer of frost.

South Rutland won the coveted Silver Pheasant Trophy, winning out over the 43 teams that started in the competition.

Challenges Highlight Race

A challenge between Valley high schools and a separate challenge between clubs made the Okanagan Auto Sport Club rally Sunday, one of the most successful this year.

More than 30 entries left the starting line in Winfield, swung through Vernon, Lumby, Enderby and back through Armstrong to finish in Polson Park in Vernon.

Local talent dominated, with Dr. Knox High School placing first in the high school challenge with Kelowna secondary second and Summerland High School third. The OASC left no question in mind as they scored less than one third the penalty points recorded by Nosalac of Vernon.

Driver Ross Sutcliffe and navigator Gary Kovacs, of the OASC, topped the event with 245 penalty points to clubmates Ian Chapman and Fred McKinnon's 305.

REMEMBER WHEN... Maurice Richard's unprecedented career in the National Hockey League got off the ground 29 years ago today—in 1942—when the Rocket scored his first goal. Ten years later, to the day, he passed Nels Stewart's record of 324 and took the mark to 544 goals in scheduled play and 82 in playoffs before his retirement.

Pirates Get Healthy Payoff For Beating Orioles In Series

NEW YORK (AP)—Each Pittsburgh Pirates player will receive $18,164.58 for his role in beating Baltimore Orioles last month for baseball's World Series title.

Each of the Orioles will get $13,906.46.

The biggest financial pie in World Series history will be shared by players on 13 major league clubs, according to the player pool announced Monday by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

The total player purse from the exciting seven-game series amounted to a record $1,742,325.31—$28,000 more than that 1970 pool in which the Orioles got the biggest share.

Over-all receipts for the World Series and the playoff series of the two leagues amounted to $4,604,566.28.

Players of the Oakland and San Francisco clubs, which won division titles but lost in the title series, cut up $217,790.66. The Athletics received $6,365.58 each, the Giants $6,188.29.

Big White Motto Will Be 'Fun Is A Family Affair' Numerous Improvements, Expanded Facilities

Fun is a family affair, and that is what Big White Ski Resort officials will try to get across this winter.

The skiing program at Big White is aimed to please the whole family, and inspire family groups to spend a full weekend on the slopes.

To do this a number of improvements have been added, including night skiing along the upper east slope, the bunny hill, with a run up to 1,650 feet in length and 300 feet in vertical drop.

The main addition to Big White is the classy 6,000 foot Paradise Chair Lift, which starts 2,000 feet below the former road and peaks at the top of the west ridge. This high-capacity Doppelmayr chair lift provides skiers with runs up to three miles in length and 1,500 feet in vertical drop.

Moreover, skiers who ski the Big T-Bar in tandem with the Paradise Chair will have their choice of runs of up to three miles over a 2,000 foot vertical drop.

A chalet T-bar has also been installed on a perfect beginner slope near the base of the Paradise Chair.

These new facilities open up an entirely new area for skiing and bring the total uphill capacity of the four Doppelmayr lifts to 4,205 skiers per hour, ensuring no lift lines.

Big White, with upper base facilities at 6,000 feet elevation, is the highest ski area in B.C. The snow depth in winter on the lowest runs averages six feet. Snow packers operate daily, keeping the beginner areas and some of the main runs well packed but the other 15 runs of 21 promise deep, fluffy powder.

NUMEROUS RUNS

The 21 runs is misleading as there are a number of side trails off the main runs that can be used by adventurous skiers.

Overnight accommodations can handle 160 skiers, making it easy for families to make Big White a weekend holiday.

A number of competitions for the fun-type skier are planned, including the Molstar races, Molstar pacesetter, and Big White ski instructor, Brian James, sets twenty-gate giant slalom courses through the winter.

In these races skiers race against themselves to receive a handicap and try to beat the time set by James and other prominent pacesetters.

James, one of the originators of Molstar competitions, has Anticipation — A complex of movements used to initiate a Christie, consisting of up-unweighting, increase of forward lean, banking and rotation.

SKI TALK

Banking — The leaning of the entire body toward the imaginary centre of a parallel Christie which causes the skis to change from riding on their outside edges, to being momentarily placed flat on the slope, to inclination on the inside edges of the new turn.

Up-unweighting — If the body is suddenly raised from a low position, the force the skis exert on the snow will be negligible during the brief time that the body reaches its maximum intended extension.

Down unweighting — Skis are virtually weightless on the snow during the brief time that the body is lowered quickly from a relatively upright position. In actual practice a combination in one degree or another of up-and-down-unweighting is generally used. A ruede or hop is also an effective way of unweighting.

a few other ideas on making improvements. His "Five Steps to Parallel" Ski School has been teaching a direct approach to parallel skiing for seasons.

The method turns out good skiers in a short time. For advanced skiers the school concentrates on powder snow technique, trick skiing, racing maneuvers and avalanche.

James brings a lot of experience with him. A member of the seven man Canadian Demonstration Team, he represented Canada at the International Ski Instructors' Congress last season in West Germany. He is also a member of the technical committee for the Canadian Ski Instructors' Alliance and an Alpine coach in the Coaches' Federation of Canada.

He has 12 years of teaching, five at Big White. He formerly taught at Sunshine Village in Banff, in Eastern Canada and spent one year in Australia.

James is adding videotape to his teaching, with skiers able to see their mistakes and correct them. This is new to the Okanagan area although it is used in the Banff resorts.

His trip to the congress in West Germany will result in a method to make skiing fun for youngsters. To take young children out of the schoolroom atmosphere there will be a number of cutouts (comical figures) for the youngsters to ski around. The children's play-ground training is used extensively in West Germany.

A feather in the Big White hat came when it was chosen to host the B.C. Festival of Sports Dec. 11 and 12. Big White will take on a Mardi Gras atmosphere for the two days and skiers are encouraged to wear costumes to fit into the festivities.

A number of exhibitions will be put on by Big White officials for the enjoyment of the large number of skiers expected to join the festive occasion.

Another Mardi Gras theme will be followed in February, along the same lines as the earlier celebrations.

Another feature offered by Big White is a complete supply of skiing equipment, from top name firms. Equipment ranges from the most elaborate to the most economical, with package plans available as well as leasing arrangements.

Attractions At Silver Star Just Increasing With Age

Silver Star, one of the best developed ski resorts in the Okanagan, is moving into its 11th season and is still adding to its attractions.

Silver Star now has seven lifts, and can handle 6,000 skiers an hour. Their longest chair lift, a Mueller chair, is 6,000 feet in length with a 1,600 foot vertical drop. The second chair lift has the same vertical drop but only 4,000 feet in length.

Veteran instructor Willy Leitner is back on the slopes for his 11th year with the resort, ever since they started daily operation. With him in his third year of instructing is Bud Stewart.

Leitner, a native of Austria, formerly instructed in Calgary, after ski racing in both his native Austria and after moving to Canada.

Silver Star is offering a number of programs for the mediocre skier, besides the ski school. Molstar races will be held at least once a month and there will be two ladies' days a week.

The ladies will have their way Tuesdays and Wednesdays, with a package plan offering the women a two-of-three choice: lesson, lunch or supervised baby-sitting.

Both the novice and experienced skiers will find hills to their liking, either well-groomed slopes or miles of untouched powder for the adventurous.

Night skiing will be a feature item, only a few miles away at Tillicum. Holidaying skiers will be able to make their journey memorable by swimming and taking a sauna in the Vernon Community Centre (just a half hour away) then tackling the slopes either during the day or at night.

Cross-country skiing is near at hand, with nature-made trails to explore.

There is a full complement of accommodations at Silver Star so no worry of being left out in the cold.

SKI TALK

Angulation — The bending away from the slope (or the centre of the turn) by the upper body which compensates for the movement of the knees towards the slope (or turn). Angulation helps to change edges, control edges, and shift body weight.

Snowmobile Care Important

1. Know your snowmobile. Keep it well-maintained. In thawing weather clear the track of slush by lifting machine free of the ground and spinning track. Regular checks with your dealer are a good investment.

2. Another reminder — snowmobiling on ice can be hazardous. Never cross a lake or stream without first knowing the ice condition. Moving water thins the ice from below. Make sure it can support both you and your snowmobile.

3. On safety, always travel with others. Do not attempt a long trip that may be beyond your capacity. Always let others know your destination and expected arrival time. Carry emergency supplies — flares, snowshoes, first aid kit, a map, an axe, extra fuel, waterproof matches and rations. As in swimming safety, use the "buddy system."

4. Join your local snowmobile club. Learn everything you need to know from experts.

5. Liquor and snowmobiling are a poor mix. Leave the former alone.

6. The second biggest known cause of snowmobiling fatalities is collision with cars, while collisions with other snowmobiles have produced many injuries. Caution, common sense, and courtesy can eliminate a majority of these accidents. Practice these three Cs.

Longer Runway Would Pay Off

A longer runway at the Kelowna airport could boost Okanagan merchants' earnings over the winter months through skiers flying in for holidays.

Operators of Big White, Silver Star, Apex and Mount Baldy have joined Kelowna city council and chamber of commerce in seeking a longer runway. A petition was presented to the airport advisory committee, through Ski Okanagan, earlier this year.

Lengthening the runway would allow airplanes to land. This in turn would allow ski tours to land at Kelowna for the Okanagan area instead of being limited to the Banff area.

It is estimated that for every dollar a skier spends on the hill it is matched by approximately $10 in town. This would be a boon to city merchants who miss the summer tourist trade.

Expansion Process By Snowmobile Club

The Kelowna Snowmobiling Club is continuing its expansion process, and now adds its third chalet to the two others built in the four years of the club's existence.

Since 1967, when about 10 snowmobilers got together and formed the original club, the group has grown to over 150 members with the families of members making it even larger.

The club now has three chalets scattered around the Kelowna area for the use of their members and guests. The first chalet was built in the first year of their existence, in the Beaver Lake area.

The second chalet, and largest, was erected in the summer of 1969 in the Greystokes area. Building is continuing on the club's third chalet by Esperon Lake.

"One big improvement this year is maintenance," club vice-president and publicity man John Gartel said. "We've arranged to have the main trails maintained so that club members won't have much problem with bad trails to the chalets."

"Sometimes the trails would get quite bad," Gartel said. "Now members can get to the chalets easily then take off on their own to areas which have not been travelled much," he added.

Snowmobiling is a fairly safe sport, made so by a number of safety devices on the machine. Most dangers can be avoided by common sense.

"Only one club member has had an accident in which he broke a bone," Gartel said. "One of the members who race competitively once broke his thumb."

"Of course there are some rangy snowmobilers who tend to give a bad name. These are the ones that usually get hurt just through carelessness."

Mount Baldy Racing Weather As Snow Starts Falling Early

The leaves are still falling in the Okanagan Valley, but on Mount Baldy, east of Osoyoos, new and enlarged ski runs, an addition to the day lodge and a rash of cabin construction is racing to keep ahead of the winter.

Mount Baldy, at 7,580 feet, already has over two feet of snow.

Downhill trail improvement includes widening of all existing ski runs and considerable bulldozer work to polish up the rough edges on last year's new runs.

The snow-cat trail (otherwise known as the Grandfather's Run) has been widened and cleared at the super levels to provide a long easy way down for beginners. Stemwinder Trail, the next easiest, has been short-circuited and widened at the former traverse section so it now has a clean fall-line run all the way from top to bottom. The extreme west end of the Stemwinder has also been dropped farther down the mountain to avoid conflict with the snow-cat trail.

The deep powder area east of the T-bar has been opened through the trees just enough to enable skiers to thread down through the powder to a new outrun at the bottom. The T-bar track, which rises 1,400 vertical feet, has been regraded to raise the low spots for skier comfort.

Baldy still provides a free rope tow in a protected area for beginners, plus the 1,600-foot McKinney T with five warmup downhill runs.

At the day lodge, a 1,500 square foot day room extension is almost completed to provide lots of space for busy days at Baldy. Windows will give views south to the McKinney T and parking lot, and north to Baldy itself. The parking lot has also been enlarged to give double parking for everyone right up to the lodge and considerably increased capacity.

Several new cabins of interesting design are being built. At the entrance to subdivision, just across from the lodge, a staff triplex is under construction for the manager, ski-instructors Wallie and Mary-Ann Day and George Sayce of Kelowna.

Check Tires For Ski Trips

Those who intend taking in skiing for a weekend had best not forget one of the more important purchases required for a happy ski week—tires. Tires with a good winter tread are pretty well mandatory while driving the mountain roads of B.C.

Motorists who do not heed the department of highways signs to that effect often find themselves sideways across a road with 15 to 20 carloads of angry skiers behind them.

New Attractions Featured On Apex For All Regular Runs Are Widened For Better Use

Family fun is the keynote of Apex skiing, with expert, intermediate and gentle slopes.

The Apex-Alpine ski area, located 22 miles west of Penticton, is renowned for its powder skiing. The hills are well-groomed by daily machine packing. This year, most of the regular runs have been widened and new recreation buildings have been constructed. Also new this year is illumination for night activities on the toboggan hill and ice rink.

For snowmobile enthusiasts, there are miles of untracked back-country and trails waiting to be explored.

The Apex-Alpine ski area features four lifts, including a 3,200-foot Mueller double chair, 700-foot vertical; a 3,800-foot Poma lift, 1,200 vertical; a 2,400 Mueller T-bar, 600-foot vertical; and a rope tow.

The Poma lift and T-bar operate Friday through Monday and all holidays.

New this year is the Sky-Line Ridge Run, 2½ miles long and suited for all types of skiers. Apex now features six full runs and plus the rope tow.

The recreational development, which is on land leased from the government, started in 1961 with a group of about 45 local supporters.

Since then, growth has been continuous, with "hundreds of thousands of dollars and many hours of manual and mental work involved," according to company president Charles Raitt. The company is now owned by seven persons, five of whom are local.

Paul Sharp of Penticton is area manager for the Apex-Alpine.

Residential development at Apex consists of more than 60 privately owned cabins on lots bought or leased from the government.

"We hope the government will subdivide another 50 or 60 lots," Mr. Raitt said, "Because there are lots more people on a waiting list."

The government also maintains the roads into the area, and "they have done a magnificent job," he said. Apex-Alpine put in the first road to the area, but the government took over the job five or six years ago. The department of highways has widened the road in several places since last winter and improved several difficult corners.

"They keep the road plowed and in good winter condition," said Mr. Raitt.

The Apex ski season opens usually in late November and runs to mid-April. "Sometimes it starts later, but we have no control over that, although we have been practicing snowdances."

Besides skiing, the resort offers ice-skating, tobogganing and strange sports such as innertube riding (down the hill on truck innertubes), and tray-sleigh riding (on cafeteria trays).

The rope-tow hill is lighted for night-time use Mr. Raitt said, and there will be live musical entertainment in the Tea-house during the later afternoons.

There is no night-time skiing at Apex.

The volunteer ski patrol at Apex, which consisted of 18 members last year, is equipped with a snowmobile. Hill captain is Norm Isnardy.

Al Menzies is the ski pro for Apex. Private and group lessons will be offered by certified ski instructors, headed by Hank Stefaniak.

Other facilities include a cafeteria and dining room, and a lodge. Overnight accommodation includes units complete with kitchen facilities and showers. Units are available for groups of two to 10 people.

Full rental facilities are available at the Al Menzies Mountain Shop.

Ladies Day is Thursday, with a package plan including babysitting, lunch, and lessons, for those who do not hold season's tickets.

Apex is blessed with northerly exposure on the slopes, which means no ice, little fog, lots of powder snow and moderate temperatures, Mr. Raitt said.

This year the Tea House facilities will be expanded and open to adults all day Saturday and Sunday.

The suites above the lodge, which will accommodate 52 people have been changed over to light-housekeeping, from the previous American Plan arrangement that was considered too expensive.

Plans for future expansion of the ski area include development of three more bowls located southeast of the lodge. Also, within the next five years a new lodge complex, with year-round facilities, is expected to be built and a new double chair-lift is under consideration.

Avid Night Skiers At Last Mountain

Night skiing, a budding craze in the Okanagan, will be available five nights a week as Last Mountain kicks off another season of snow fun.

Sundays and Mondays are the only days of the week without skiers under the lights on four slopes.

Christmas will have more of the same, with night skiing every night except Christmas Eve through the holidays, giving avid skiers a good way to spend the festive season.

Last Mountain has new area managers, with Bob and Ginny Stewart taking the reins. A number of new items have been added to the agenda, including bus service for night skiing Wednesday and Friday from Kelowna and Westbank.

There will be a nursery for toddlers weekdays so mothers can get out of the routine and take to the hills for some care-free exercise.

As a bonus for Last Mountain season ticket holders, day tickets at Tod Mountain, Tillikum and Red Mountain will be at half price.

Last Mountain has a 3,000 foot double chair lift, with a vertical rise of 600 feet. A spacious beginners' slope is serviced by a 1,200 foot T-bar that has a 2,000 skier per hour capacity.

Ski school instructor Jim Clark has had three years experience with Last Mountain, and has hopes of getting about 15 part time instructors to help him.

Clark moved to Last Mountain from Whistler Mountain, where he spent two years as an instructor.

The main school for children will be in January, a continuation of the school from the past couple of years with students moving on to advanced courses as they gain experience.

Ladies will get their turns on the hills for instruction Wednesdays with a special program.

Adult learn-to-ski programs will be held Wednesdays and Friday nights under the lights, and during the weekend, with a teen-age program every Saturday afternoon.

Psychology For Safety

A radio station in Salt Lake City, Utah, recently promoted ski safety by means of a list of non-safety rules.

The clever gimmick is as effective as a list of true ski safety rules.

The list, entitled "If Happiness is a Ski Fracture," goes like this, but has been adopted to fit Okanagan areas.

RESEASON CONDITIONING:

- 1) Avoid all muscular activity.
- 2) Eat gluttonously. Obesity may very well prove to be our best friend. 3) If you must sleep, keep it to a minimum.

PROPER EQUIPMENT: 1) Purchase cheap skis, preferably 7'6" solid hickory with a warp to the left. 2) Don't be taken by safety bindings; they let you down. 3) Buy boots three sizes larger and pack the toes.

SELECT TOP RESORTS: 1) The North wall of Mount Rundie. 2) Glaciers with crevices. 3) The cauldron hole at Banff Springs Golf Course, both legs. 4) Be confident. Buy a single ride ticket.

AVOID INSTRUCTION: Instruction will only confuse you.

MENTAL CONDITIONING:

- 1) Lock yourself in the nearest restroom and scream 'Baaaaa' 100 times. 2) Think, I know I'm going to fall. 3) Imagine how glorious it will be to receive sympathy of hordes of beautiful ski bunnies.

RIDING THE LIFT: 1) Bounce the ski chair. This may save you the cold trip to the top and provide you with a concussion bonus. 2) Upon unloading, point ski tips down.

Skibobbing Making Inroads

A new snow sport is making its debut at several High Country ski areas this winter.

Chances are few Canadians have heard of Skibobbing, even though this new sport is expected to eventually attract thousands.

The sport is an import from Europe where it has become extremely popular during the past six years.

Skibobbing offers the same type of thrills provided by skiing without the same risks of physical injury. The new sport can be mastered by anyone in less than an hour.

A skibob, the equipment needed for skibobbing, is a bicycle-type conveyance with skis in place of wheels. The skibob weighs about 15 pounds which means a woman can easily carry one.

The skibobber—the person who rides the skibob—wears a short ski on each foot to aid with control and braking.

There are three primary factors why people involved with skibobbing say it will be attractive to so many North Americans. First, it is thrilling and fun. Second, it is safe. Skibobbing is probably 90 per cent safer than skiing. Third, it is very easy to learn. In less than an hour the new skibobber will be zipping down slopes and trails that are normally used by above-average skiers.

Thus, if a new sport is fun, relatively safe, easy to learn, is not restricted to the young and physically fit or daring, you have a recreational activity that can, and will, attract large numbers of people.

NHL Expansion Question Not Solved By Governors

NEW YORK (CP) — Governors of the National Hockey League struggled today with the question of expansion after meeting for more than six hours Monday without coming to any decision.

The 14 governors are considering a report by a committee on expansion headed by president Clarence Campbell.

Campbell said late Monday night that the governors sought Monday to resolve "procedural matters" on the expansion issue.

Under consideration are a number of franchise applications with Atlanta and Hempstead, Long Island, rated to have the best chance to have their bids approved.

Originally the league had not planned to expand before 1974 but there were indications this could change with new teams being accepted for play as early as next season.

DISCUSS MAJORITY VOTE

Campbell indicated last week that any speeded-up expansion timetable would require a unanimous vote of the board, but there were reports Monday night that the 14 governors were discussing the possibility of a 12-vote majority as requirement for approval. "That is a matter of debate," said Campbell.

How to get around the self-imposed limitation of a unanimous vote was believed to be the "procedural matter" mentioned by Campbell.

If they obtained franchises, both Hempstead and Atlanta would have stadiums ready for next season. The Nassau County Coliseum, with seating capacity of 15,000, will be ready to receive a team by next fall.

Atlanta will have a new stadium this fall with seating capacity of 17,000 for hockey.

NHL vice-president Don Ruck expressed hope a decision can be reached today.

Eliminating the need for a unanimous vote would sidestep objections to immediate expansion by one or two dissenting governors such as Oakland's Charles O. Finley, who indicated he would be unhappy with having his club surrender any players to stock new teams now.

SOME FAVOR SPLIT

Then there is the matter of how to handle a 16-team league. Some sentiment exists for splitting the teams into four divisions composed of four teams each. Naturally, the makeup of those divisions was not a simple issue to resolve.

One solution offered was dividing up the NHL's four most powerful teams, Montreal, Chicago, New York and Boston, and putting one in each of the proposed four divisions.

Another problem for the NHL governors to consider was the new World Hockey Association, which has announced plans to play in 10 cities next season. One of the WHA franchise holders, Neal Shayne of Woodmere, N.Y., has threatened suit should the NHL expand to Long Island and place a team in the new Nassau Coliseum complex.

Expansion was the only topic on the agenda of the two-day NHL meeting. There had been a report that a possible shift of franchises might also be discussed.

"No," said Campbell, "there is no franchise shift on the agenda, but that is a factor and could influence some members in their voting."

Curtis' Cast Came In Handy In Turning The Tide For Colts

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mike Curtis will have two metal pins removed from a mending broken thumb today, and he hopes the operation will give him more football mobility.

But the bulky cast worn by Baltimore's middle linebacker may have restricted his play just enough Monday night to produce a 24-17 victory for the Colts over Los Angeles Rams.

With his right thumb in a rigid position and unable to grasp properly, Curtis used his arm as sort of a club to jar the ball loose from Larry Smith of the Rams in the fourth quarter.

Fellow linebacker Ted Hendricks snared the ball in full stride and romped 31 yards into the end zone for a touchdown which snapped a 10-10 tie with 9:03 to play.

Scores by Baltimore's Tom Matte and Matt Maslowski of the Rams were added in the closing two minutes, but it was the fumble popped free by Curtis which turned the tide in the nationally televised game.

SAW BALL IN AIR

Hendricks first saw the ball about seven feet in the air, and grabbed it about a foot off the ground. Just 82 seconds before Hendricks scored a 32-yard field goal by Baltimore's Jim O'Brien tied it 10-10, overcoming a Los Angeles lead that had existed since just before halftime.

Matte, Baltimore's 32-year-old workhorse who gained 97 yards, had given the Colts a 7-3 lead with the first of his two touchdowns with 5:26 to go in the second quarter.

But the Rams, who opened the scoring with David Ray's 20-yard field goal, struck back quickly. They drove 60 yards in seven plays to go in front 10-7 on a 12-yard TD pass from Roman Gabriel to Les Josephson.

Canadian Equestrian Team Rides Way To Cup Triumph

NEW YORK (AP) — The Canadian equestrian team was basking today in the glory of its first Nations Cup victory of the year and first at the National Horse Show since 1959.

But the Canadians still have another major problem in tonight's final session of the 88th edition of the National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden. They are four points behind the Americans in the battle for over-all honors.

The United States equestrian team leads Canada for the team title, 76-72, with Argentina, the third team in the competition, trailing with 36 points.

The Nations Cup is the most important international class in horse shows around the world. Each country, with the exception of the U.S., is permitted only one Nations Cup. The U.S. because of its numerous shows, is permitted two.

The U.S. team won the other at the Pennsylvania National Show in Harrisburg two weeks ago. That was the third time coach Bert de Nemethy's riders won the event this year.

They also triumphed in France and West Germany last summer.

ONE CUP REMAINS

One Nations Cup remains for both the U.S. and Canadian equestrian team. That is scheduled for the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto next week.

In the cup competition Monday night, the Canadian team finished with seven faults and the U.S. team had 12. Ironically, all the faults incurred by both teams took place in the first round during the afternoon session. Both teams had clean performances—only the scores of the top three of the four riders on the team are counted—in the final round during the night session before a crowd of about 8,000 in Madison Square Garden.

The Canadian performance was paced by Torchy Millar of Ste. Marguerite Station, Quebec, riding Le Dauphin, who produced the only clean performance in the first round among the 12 international riders competing.

Millar repeated the feat in the second round as did Barbara Simpson of Calgary, riding Catbird. Anchorman was Jim Day, Olympic medalist from Hornby, Ont., riding Sundancer. Day was the last rider up and his flawless performance clinched the title for the Canadians.

In the first round, Day had three faults and Miss Simpson four.

Birds Plucked By Japanese

KYOTO, Japan (AP) — The Japan series champion Tokyo Yomuri Giants, teaming with the Pacific League champion Hankyu Braves, erupted for 12 hits off four Baltimore hurlers today and whipped the American League champion Orioles, 8-2.

It was the first loss in Japan for the Orioles, the 14th U.S. major baseball club to visit this country on a barnstorming tour. The Orioles have won eight games and tied three others.

Hiroshi Yamada of the Braves, the Pacific League's top pitcher in the 1971 season, outclassed Jim Palmer in a duel between two 20-game winners. Yamada held the Orioles to seven hits, including a home run and two doubles.

Palmer gave up three homers and two singles in the first four innings, and was relieved by Pete Richert in the fifth.

Our System/3 Model 6 computer leads four lives.

IBM's new System/3 Model 6.
It's a small business computer, a ledger card computer, a problem-solving computer, a computer terminal.

Here is the most versatile small computer we have ever made.

If you're a small businessman, you can use it to get out the payroll, the bills, the inventory reports.

If you want to keep using ledger cards, you can get an advanced printer to handle them.

If you're an engineer or a banker or a statistician, you can use it to solve problems. Like determining the flow of water through a 6-inch pipe. Or the flow of cash through a multi-million dollar company.

If you're with a large company, you can use it as a terminal hooked up to System/360, System/370, or another System/3.

You can key information directly into Model 6. And store it on disk files. And process it at up to 100,000 calculations a second.

The low-cost System/3 Model 6, using advanced monolithic circuitry, is compact and self-contained.

It's four more ways we're the company behind the computer.

What Thyroid Test Will Illustrate

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dr. Thosteson: I noticed a small, soft enlargement along one side of my windpipe. It doesn't show at all on the outside.

I went to the hospital and had what they call a thyroid scan. The doctor said it showed nothing, which is good.

Just what did he mean by that, because two weeks later he said my thyroid was very underactive. What are the symptoms of that?

What is Proloid? If one has to take medication, do you have to continue with it for a lifetime?

—W.M.N.

By the scan showing nothing, he meant that there was no confirmation of an active tumor of the thyroid gland—which is good, certainly.

Other tests and observations could indicate an underactive thyroid which, it appears, was the case. Symptoms of that are ease of fatigue, dry skin and hair, low blood pressure, slow pulse, possibly a tendency to gain weight.

Proloid is a thyroid extract used to treat that condition. The length of time you have to take it depends on how you respond to the medication, but usually it is continued for a prolonged time.

Dr. Thosteson: I have had constant headaches for 12 years. I also have a low blood sugar count. Can headaches be due to this, and will a controlled diet have any effect? Please discuss hypoglycemia. I understand it is a rare condition—Mrs. M.M.C.D.

Hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) can contribute to headaches, but I would look elsewhere for causes of constant headaches that last 12 years.

Hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) is far from a rare condition. In varying degrees, it is quite common, and has varying causes. Diet that is low in carbohydrate and high in protein helps a great many patients. I see no reason why you shouldn't try it and see whether it helps the headache.

Dr. Thosteson: My husband is 59 and has been taking medication for over a year because of his high cholesterol count, which shows little or no improvement even though he sticks to his diet pretty well.

He has been a heavy drinker for the last 15 years, consumes two to three fifths of scotch a week. He has an extremely large stomach yet has had no substantial increase in weight in 20 years.

Is there any connection between the liquor and high cholesterol? Should his doctor be informed? He is not aware of the drinking.—Mrs. J.T.

By all means his doctor should be informed, but for more reasons than just the stubborn cholesterol level. That's a substantial alcohol intake, and the liver can tolerate only about so much alcohol. Further, the liver has a big role in cholesterol production.

The large stomach could be due to fluid accumulating because of cirrhosis of the liver—although cholesterol may be either high or low with cirrhosis.

I repeat, his doctor should be told about the drinking because of the high probability that there is some liver involvement.

Dr. Thosteson: Is it at all possible to father a child at 70? What are the odds? Could it happen—G.C.

I don't know the odds, but the male does not, like a woman, lose the ability to have children. There are cases of men much older than 70 siring children.

Opening lead—king of spades. They say that necessity is the mother of invention, and certainly this adage can sometimes be applied at the bridge table.

Consider this hand where West leads the spade king against six hearts. South wins with the ace and cashes the A-K of trumps, hoping the queen will fall, in which case a successful club finesse would bring matters to a happy conclusion.

But East shows out and declarer is in deep trouble. It is no longer enough to assume that a club finesse will succeed, for even if it does and the clubs are divided normally—that is, 3-2—he will still be unable to make the slam.

In that case West would ruff the third or fourth round of clubs and cash the queen of spades to put the contract down one.

South must go beyond that in trying to either invent or envision a combination of cards that will permit the slam to be made. He must not only assume that West has the queen of clubs but must also assume that West has four clubs rather than two or three. That is the only way for the slam to come home.

Accordingly, South plays the eight of clubs to the ace at trick four (in order to guard against East's having a singleton honor), then returns to his hand with a diamond and leads the nine of clubs.

West's play at this point does not affect the outcome. If he follows low, South also plays low from dummy, and gets rid of both his spade losers before West can ruff.

If West covers the nine with the ten, South finesses the jack, ruffs the seven of clubs to achieve the same result. Once declarer makes the proper assumption, West is helpless.

Alberta Has Ultimate Weapon When It Comes To Income Tax

EDMONTON (CP) — Inter-governmental Affairs Minister Don Getty said today the possibility of Alberta collecting its own income tax is the province's "ultimate negotiating weapon."

"It's the kind of a weapon that sometimes has to be raised for the federal government to realize that you're serious," he told a news conference.

The minister said, however, that before Alberta would seriously consider collecting its own income taxes "we'd have to reach a position that was so unsatisfactory we had no other choice."

Alberta told the federal-provincial conference of finance ministers last week in Ottawa that it might have to consider collecting its own taxes as Quebec now does, if tax reform and fiscal arrangements go seriously against the province.

Premier Peter Lougheed told the news conference that the meeting in Ottawa, which he attended, was "a good opening step."

"We don't expect overnight changes or results. The main purpose was to get acquainted in Ottawa and establish effective ways to work with the federal government and not have to reply on Ottawa's call."

NEW DEVELOPMENT

The premier said there was a good response by the federal government and other provinces to establishment of a department of inter-governmental affairs by the new Progressive Conservative government.

Mr. Lougheed said he will write to Prime Minister Trudeau this week about Alberta's request to be placed on any future federal-provincial and federal-provincial committees.

Last week in the Commons, Trade Minister Jean-Luc Piquet, reported Mr. Lougheed's request to be placed on any future federal-provincial and federal-provincial committees.

'Copter Search Abandoned

HALIFAX (CP) — A search for three of four crew members of a Canadian Forces helicopter that crashed in the Atlantic Sunday was abandoned Monday.

A Canadian Forces spokesman said a statement from the lone surviving member of the crew indicated there was little chance the other three men escaped from the helicopter before it sank. The helicopter crashed during exercises about 200 miles south of Sable Island.

CURBS URGED

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Former rugby players in Australia have formed an association to dissuade elderly colleagues tempted to make a comeback. They call it Athletics Anonymous and say when a member feels the urge to play rugby again, he should phone another member, who tips him with half a dozen bottles of beer and words of dis encouragement.

New Alaska Oil Field Found And Raises Pricing Query

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new oil field in the North Slope and possibly larger Alaskan oil field than the one discovered on the North Slope was discovered Monday in a report received by Senator William Proxmire.

The report prepared for the Department of the Interior by a team of geologists and geophysicists, says the new field is located on the North Slope, about 100 miles from the coast.

The new field, the report said, could be shipped by pipe, an area which is considered from the North Slope, and may be some 100 miles from the coast. The report also says the field is located on the North Slope, about 100 miles from the coast.

STUDY SKUNKS

REGINA (CP) — A University of Saskatchewan biology professor is studying the physiology and behavior of skunks to find out why they are more susceptible to rabies than other animals. Dr. D. L. Bruce says skunks, for some reason, tend to be a "natural reservoir of infection."

FOR TAX BILL CHANGES

Farm Spokesmen Rise In Force

OTTAWA (CP) — Commonsense farm spokesmen rose in force Monday to demand changes in parts of the government tax bill which they said would drive farmers off their land.

They said farmers and ranchers would shoulder an unfair tax burden in trying to build livestock herds and in leaving their farms to sons to carry on.

The debate—part of clause-by-clause study of the 70-page bill—was marked by opposition predictions of government defeat in Monday's vote in the Saskatchewan farm riding of Assiniboia.

The MPs learned as the debate closed that New Democrat William Knight had defeated Conservative and Liberal opponents.

Jack Horner (Crowfoot), a Conservative rancher from Alberta, stated the case for continued tax concessions for cattlemen under the basic-herd concept. It was one of the special privileges farmers need for survival, he said.

NOW CAPITAL ASSET

A basic herd now is considered a capital asset, which increases in value and produces income from sales without being taxed.

Under the proposed bill, farmers would be considered inventory. Farmers could write off the cost of buying a herd, but would pay tax on the profit earned in selling the herd just as with any other income.

Mr. Horner, fellow Alberta rancher Clifford Downey (Battle River) and economist John Burnot be allowed to discount farm losses against other income—small farmers trying to make a living at other work while they build up their farms.

They said legitimate small farmers should get a tax break for struggling to establish their farms as going concerns.

SUGGESTS GOVERNMENT AIM

As for the bill as a whole, Mr. Horner said it was another of the government's attempts to force two-thirds of farmers off their land.

He said the government has quietly accepted the suggestion of a 1968 report that small, inefficient farmers get out of the business, leaving it to the big money-makers.

The report suggested that Canada's farm population, now about 10 per cent of the total population, be cut to three per cent.

SCHOOL DECREASE

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — A provincial education department survey predicts that Prince Edward Island's elementary school population will decrease by 3,000 during the next five years and the teaching staff will be reduced by 180 within the same period.

Russell Ewing, director of elementary and secondary education for the province, said increased immigration or a high retention rate of young people who now seek jobs outside the province could change the forecasts.

Gordon Blair (L-Grenville) and Mr. Downey called for a distinction in the bill between the hobby-farmer who earns most of his income away from the farm and would be allowed to discount farm losses against other income—small farmers trying to make a living at other work while they build up their farms.

SAFETY GROUP

TORONTO (CP) — A new organization to safeguard the safety and welfare of the snowmobiler has been formed in Ontario. It is the Ontario Snowmobile Distributors Association, and is made up of the companies who manufacture and distribute more than 20 leading brands of snowmobiles. Its first objective is to establish close relationships with federal and provincial governments and with snowmobile research, safety and educational organizations.

Man Slain As Drums Roll

VANCOUVER (CP) — While drums rolled for the finale of the "bottomless show" at the Zanzibar night club early today and most patrons were unaware, a man watching the show was shot and killed, and two men were wounded.

Police said the gunman had missed a drink for half an hour, waiting until the drums would drown out the shots. He fled the club immediately in a pickup truck.

Identity of the dead man was not released, but police said they believed he was in his 40s and from Whitehorse and a frequent visitor to the club.

Four shots were fired at close range, wounding two men in the chest and legs after the bullets passed through the murdered man's head, police said.

Trailer Business Operator Has Court Action Lifted

VICTORIA (CP)—The municipal council in Stewart, B.C., has been ordered to stop pending court action against Peter Curran and grant him the necessary licenses to carry on business in the area.

The order was made by the provincial cabinet on the advice of former deputy minister of affairs minister J. Everett Brown, who conducted a government inquiry into the affair last month.

The inquiry was ordered after Mr. Curran, a Social Credit candidate in the 1969 provincial election, charged that Stewart council was discriminating against him and trying to drive him out of business.

Mr. Brown's report said Mr. Curran was operating a trailer accommodation business in Stewart without lawful authority. It said he had moved a number of mobile homes into the area without council approval, had hooked them up to sewer lines without authority and had drilled a well for a water supply in a built-up area.

The report also said Mr. Curran was unjustified in his charges of discrimination against council. It said there was a "reasonable presumption" the mobile homes could not withstand the snowfalls in the area and that the well could easily be contaminated by surface drainage.

"While the legal problems surrounding this operation might ultimately be resolved by the courts it does not appear to be in the public interest to let this situation continue to fester nor to disregard any potential danger to the safety and health of those who may use these facilities," the report said.

Mayor Ian McLeod of Stewart said the mobile homes were not built according to the standards of the National Building Code which the municipality has accepted for the area.

Air Readings May Be Ready For Meeting

Air pollution readings taken in the Okanagan may be reported on during the Nov. 17 meeting of South Okanagan Health Unit board in Summerland, reports medical officer of health Dr. D. A. Clarke.

He was commenting on Vancouver reports that suspended matter in "dirty air" exceeded levels set by federal environment minister Jack Davis. Air is not supposed to have more than 120 micrograms of suspended particulate matter each 24 hours. Some coast city readings have reached 285 micrograms.

Air pollution has two aspects, Dr. Clarke said. One is the quantity of matter, the other its quality. Some gases and other materials are nuisances but not hazards.

Hopes were expressed for extensive air pollution studies in the unit area next summer. Last summer an extensive water testing program was done under the federal government Opportunities for Youth program.

Correspondence read by secretary Mrs. A. Kenney included a letter from the Winfield Centennial Committee thanking members serving refreshments on Centennial Day.

A report of the North Okanagan zone meeting held in Vernon in September was given. Treasurer Mrs. R. Warnock gave a report on the financial situation.

Catering convener Mrs. G. Parker gave a report on the food served at two recent weddings.

A donation was made to the branch for the poppy wreath. The president called for a good attendance at the Remembrance Day parade and the interdenominational memorial service in the Winfield memorial hall.

The next meeting will be Dec. 1 at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. D. Duggan.

Prisoner Gives Testimony In Trial Of 13 Convicts

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — A cent assault on a female, one of prisoner beaten by convicts during the April riot at Kingston penitentiary testified that one man charged with murder night helped him escape worse treatment.

The prisoner gave testimony at the start of the second week of the trial of 13 prisoners charged with non-capital murder in the deaths of convicts Brian Ensor, 28, and Bertram Robert, 34.

The witness said Harold St. Amour intervened to have him removed from the circle of "undesirable" prisoners who were being beaten.

Prison officials found Ensor's body in a corridor when the four-day rebellion ended and Robert died in hospital a month later.

More than a dozen prisoners, many from cells in Block 1-D, were injured. The cellblock housed informers and sexual offenders, known as "undesirables" to the general prison population.

The witness said he had been convicted five years ago in London, Ont., on two counts of inde-

Fraser Valley Teachers Have Agreement Rejected

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP) — A tentative Fraser Valley teachers' agreement on salary increases, covering 1,500 teachers in six districts, was rejected by school trustees Monday as too costly.

The six districts—Hope, Chilliwack, Agassiz, Abbotsford, Mission and Langley—now will attempt to negotiate independently for separate agreements.

If settlements are not reached by Nov. 15, disputes must go to arbitration.

Douglas Steinson of Chilliwack, the Fraser Valley teachers' bargaining co-ordinator, said Monday teachers had been informed by participating school boards that the tentative agreement reached Sept. 21 was off because the basic formula being used to determine salary increases had become too expensive.

"It had been anticipated the basic wage formula being used would yield an increase of about 7.3 per cent," he said. "But when delayed average weekly wage figures came in it gave the formula a yield of 8.26 per cent. The trustees now say this is too high."

British Columbia School Trustees Association officials say 40 or 50 salary negotiations may go to arbitration this fall.

Coroner's Jury Rules In Fire

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver city council and the owner, manager and a tenant of a skid road hotel were held responsible by a coroner's jury Monday night for a fire at the hotel last month that claimed the lives of five men.

The jury also brought down 10 recommendations, ranging from a demand for more legal teeth in fire bylaws to more stringent hotel licensing regulations.

Captain George Birnie, the city's chief fire warden, said the Oct. 28 fire was started by a man smoking in bed, on the third floor, and the flames mushroomed up a stairway to the fourth floor. He said fire doors had been wedged open.

Coroner Glen McDonald said he would bring the jury's recommendations to the attention of the proper authorities.

Firing Along East Pakistan Borders

NEW DELHI (Reuter) — Indian officials have again reported a series of exchanges of fire between Pakistani troops and Indian border forces along the East Pakistan borders, but denied that Indian troops had ever crossed into East Pakistan.

"Instructions to our troops are not to cross the border and there are no instances of their having crossed the border," a government spokesman told a news conference Monday.

The denial came despite persistent reports that Indian troops did cross into East Pakistan Oct. 31 to silence Pakistani guns, which had shelled the Kamalpur area of Tripura territory.

The spokesman confirmed that supplies of Soviet arms had been reaching India in the last week, but again denied foreign press reports of large-scale arms arrivals.

"We have been making limited purchases of arms and stores from countries which originally supplied equipment to remedy certain deficiencies," he said without elaborating or naming countries.

Observers here take the statement as an indication that India may be trying to acquire certain types of arms to match Pakistani acquisitions since the 1965 war.

A government press release Monday specifically noted—in the light of comments here that Pakistani Mirage-III fighters were superior to any fighters in the Indian air force—that India's air strength and capability are superior to Pakistan's despite the Mirages.

"The defence capability and striking force of the Indian army cannot but cause serious concern to the adversary," the note said.

Meanwhile, Indian Defence Minister Jagjivan Ram is again visiting Indian forward positions, this time along the Rajasthan borders with West Pakistan.

At meetings in border towns, Ram took note of the latest Chinese statements expressing support for Pakistan in case of foreign aggression and said India had taken into account the possibility of Pakistan getting Chinese help in the event of war.

China's First UN Delegation Heads For U.S.

PEKING (Reuter) — China's first delegation to the United Nations, headed by Vice-Foreign Minister Chiao Kuan Hua, left Peking today.

Their Ilushin-18 airliner took off for Shanghai and the Chinese party, numbering more than 30, was seen off by Premier Chou En-lai and other leaders.

The delegation members are expected to transfer at Shanghai tonight to a scheduled Air France flight and fly to New York via Paris.

About 3,000 Chinese dressed in national costumes and waving flags and flowers saw the delegation off.

Premier Chou stood surrounded by members of the families, including children, of the UN group. He laughed and joked with the children.

A military band played Chinese music under slogans reading Long Live Chairman Mao's Great Victory in Revolutionary Diplomacy.

The Peking diplomatic corps were there to see the departure of the delegation, which includes nine members and their back-up staffs.

China warmly embraced the diplomat of Albania, which led the fight for China's entry into the UN and said in answer to a remark by Chilean Ambassador Armando Uribe: "We shall fight together."

China wore a light coat over a Mao suit and typical peaked cap.
